LEADER CLEARS TORQUATO

COLD? WHY, IT'S JUST FINE — Folks on the sidelines may be shivering in January's zero-like temperatures, but this character at New York's Bronx Zoo thinks the weather's just fine. The Arctic is the sea lion's natural habitat, of course.

Icy Weather Will Continue in State

By UNITED PRESS

There was little relief in sight for Pennsylvania today from the week-long cold wave.

Temperatures during the night dropped to below-zero levels again in the mountain areas and the northern tier of counties. They ranged from zero to five or six above in the southern tier of counties.

Icy winds brought light to one inch of fresh snow throughout Western Pennsylvania early today, making driving hazardous on some roads. More snow was on the way.

Pennsylvania had at least seven weather-caused deaths since the arrival of the Arctic weather last week end. The three latest occurred Thursday in Westmoreland County.

At Franklin, ice was piling up in the Allegheny River, but river observers said there is no immediate danger of a gorge-caused flood.

River Frozen

Several channels remained open with the water running free here. The river was frozen to the north.

Nicholas G. Cecchini, 35, of New Alexandria, was killed by carbon monoxide at his service station while working on autos stalled by the cold wave.

George Stuck, 42, of Arnold, was found dead in his carbon monoxide filled garage. The hood of his car was up and the garage door was closed.

Eugene E. Swope, 24, Smithdale, Allegheny County, was killed when an auto in which he was riding skidded into a utility pole near West Newton and upset. He was Westmoreland County's first traffic fatality of 1957.

The Allegheny River, frozen from Pittsburgh 200 miles north to Olean, N.Y., remained closed to all navigation.

Two of the coldest spots in the state early today were Ridgway, which recorded its sixth straight day of sub-zero temperatures, and Philipsburg. It was 22 below at Ridgway and 16 below at Philipsburg.

The weather forecast called for

A break in the recent cold wave came yesterday afternoon as the mercury climbed from 9 above at noon to 14 above at midnight.

The temperature reading at noon today was 20 above in Monessen.

Smithdale Man Killed in Crash Near W. Newton

Westmoreland County's first traffic fatality occurred early last night when an Allegheny County man died instantly in a one-car crash about two miles east of West Newton.

Killed was Eugene E. Swope, 24, of Smithdale.

The driver of the vehicle, Paul Astle, 23, of Detroit, Mich., was detained in Frick Memorial Hospital, Mt. Pleasant.

Swope apparently died from a fractured skull, according to Officer Lawrence Dongilli, of South Huntingdon Township police. Astle suffered a severe back injury and multiple bruises and lacerations.

Dongilli said the car, a 1956 convertible model, was demolished when it struck an embankment, glanced off and then rammed a utility pole.

It was apparent, the officer said, that Astle was traveling at a high rate of speed. Skid marks were visible for 150 feet from the enbankment, he added. The car reportedly hit the enbankment with a tremendous impact.

Dongilli said the highway was relatively clear, with ice patches scattered every few feet.

He said he plans to prosecute Astle in the death.

McDonald Accused By Rarick

JOHNSTOWN, Pa. (UP)—A candidate for the presidency of the United Steelworkers charged Thursday night USW President David J. McDonald offered him a job "provided I withdraw my candidacy."

Donald C. Rarick, a McKeesport, Pa., millhand who heads a slate of candidates seeking to oust McDonald, said the offer was made to him Dec. 31. Asked if McDonald personally made the offer, Rarick replied:

"He did. It was McDonald who offered me the job provided I withdraw my candidacy."

McDonald, who is in the San Francisco area to conduct a series of regional conferences, was unavailable for comment on Rarick's charge. A union spokesman said McDonald was holding a meeting at 1 p.m. EST today in San Francisco.

Also Claims Money Offer

Rarick, here to address a union rally, said last week he was promised $250,000 by an international officer of the USW to quit his campaign for presidency of the 1,200,000-member union. At that time, Rarick also said he was offered a job as "McDonald's right-hand man" but declined to identify the persons who made the alleged offers.

Rarick again refused Thursday night to name the person who offered the quarter million dollars. He said he could prove "absolutely" the charge "if it ended up in court."

Asked if he had a witness to the December bribe offer, Rarick said "I don't want to jeopardize anyone's life or anything else." He said if the "opposition" believes it is being slandered, it has "every right to sue for libel."

To back up his charge, Rarick challenged certain unidentified international union representatives along with himself to undergo "a lie detector test on the subject of the bribe offer."

McDonald, in a speech last Saturday at Philadelphia, described

Aliens Given Two Weeks to File Reports

Monessen district aliens have only two-weeks in which to file their annual address report as required by law.

Non-citizens can obtain address report forms from any post office. Aliens are required to report their address to the government each January under a provision of the Immigration and Nationality Act of 1952.

The only non-citizens not required to report their address are persons in diplomatic status, foreign representatives assigned to the United Nations, and Mexican national contract laborers.

January 31 is the deadline for submitting the report. Any person found guilty of a willful violation would be subject to a possible fine, jail sentence and deportation.

Postmaster at Charleroi to Quit

He has been associated with the post office the past 43 years. He hopes to be retired by March 31.

Slight Damage in Chimney Blaze

Slight damage resulted from a small chimney fire at the residence of Bernard Reday at 213 Reed avenue this morning at 8:40, Monessen firemen reported.

Woodwork at the base of the chimney caught fire. The flames were extinguished by a garden hose.

It was a silent alarm.

ISRAELIS REFUSE TO YIELD THIS AQABA AREA — An Israeli sentry guards a captured Egyptian coastal gun commanding Straits of Tiran, a gun formerly used by the Egyptians to blockade the Gulf of Aqaba. The Israelis refuse to yield this spot on the Sinai peninsula.

UN Voting on Resolution to Force Israel to Leave Egypt

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (UP) — Arab and Asian diplomats predicted passage in the U. N. General Assembly today of a resolution giving Israel five days to pull its troops out of Israel.

At the same time, however, more support was expected for an Australian suggestion to station U.N. emergency troops in the Gaza Strip and along the Gulf of Aqaba.

Canada was listed as the first speaker when debate resumed this morning. A vote was expected this afternoon.

Both the United States and Russia have expressed support for the Arab-Asian resolution, sponsored by the entire bloc with the exception of Egypt and Laos.

The resolution is mildly worded. It noted with "regret and concern" Israeli troops have not been withdrawn completely behind the demarcation lines set up under the 1949 Palestine Armistice. It called for no penalties against Israel for failure to comply with the five-day deadline. The 25 sponsors rejected Egypt's demands for sanctions.

Israel has been demanding some guarantee that the Gaza Strip will not be used as a base for Egyptian commando raids in the future and that the Gulf of Aqaba will remain open to shipping.

There was no move, however, to offer a resolution embodying the Australian idea. The sentiment was that a new resolution at this time would simply muddy the situation.

Informed sources expected Israeli Foreign Minister Golda Meir would offer some ideas on the Aqaba and Gaza Strips in private talks with U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold this week. Mrs. Meir said Thursday Israel hoped to put forward a plan in which "the withdrawal of Israeli military forces from the Gaza Strip can well be one of the elements."

Most diplomats believed the assembly would wait until the expiration of the five-day limit proposed by the Afro-Asian bloc.

Unless other developments precluded such action, they expected a resolution calling for UNEF occupation of the areas might be offered them.

Mannarino Found Innocent in Bribery Charge

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Gabriel (Kelly) Mannarino, New Kensington junk dealer, was found innocent by a Federal Court jury Thursday of attempting to bribe a spectator during the 1955 New Kensington vote fraud trial.

A jury of seven men and five women returned the verdict after deliberating about 3½ hours. Mannarino had been charged with obstructing justice by allegedly paying $150 to Harry Truitt, a former New Kensington dental technician.

Mannarino denied the charge from the stand Wednesday.

Truitt, who was not a witness at the vote fraud trial Jan. 10, 1955, had testified Mannarino gave him the money in the corridor of the Federal Building to "keep my mouth shut" in the belief he was a witness.

The vote fraud trial involved seven New Kensington defendants, including rackets figure Frank Phillips. All seven pleaded guilty or were convicted.

'Blue Crutch Day' Wednesday

Plans were discussed last night for the annual observance of "Blue Crutch Day" by members of the Allison-Lescanac Post 1190, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

The tag-day, held annually by members of the VFW for the March of Dimes, will be held in Monessen on Wednesday.

Commander Vincent LaRiccia has urged all uniformed members to report to the Post Home to help the Ladies Auxiliary in the drive.

Last year, Post 1190 reported the largest total of any VFW post in Westmoreland County. More than $500 was collected.

Red China Helps Khrushchev Win Against Stalinists

LONDON (UP) — Communist sources here hinted today Nikita S. Khrushchev—with the help of Red China—has won the power struggle against the die-hard Stalinists in the Kremlin.

The sources indicated Khrushchev's "survival" would be assured shortly by the "retirement" of the remaining tough-line Communists in the Kremlin hierarchy.

Former Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov might be the first to be "pensioned off," the sources predicted. Molotov, one of the old guard Stalinists, is still a first deputy premier.

Khrushchev, the Communist Party boss, is held to be "over the hump" now, having emerged as the victor over his arch-Stalinist opponents largely with the support of Communist China.

But he has been forced to compromise heavily on his de-Stalinization and liberalization policy line.

Former Premier Georgi Malenkov, a middle-of-the-road man, is likely to move into the party leadership to maintain the balance, the sources said.

But Khrushchev will lead the Kremlin in effect, with Malenkov at his side.

There are growing indications Khrushchev would take over the post as premier from Nikolai Bulganin. Bulganin would in turn take over as president of the Soviet Union, a figurehead post. The present president, Klimenti Voroshilov, is reported ailing and heading for retirement.

Bottlers Protest Soft Drink Tax

HARRISBURG (UP)—The president of the Keystone Bottlers Association today protested a proposed penny tax on soft drinks recommended by Gov. George M. Leader's bipartisan Tax Study Committee.

R. D. Barr, Pittsburgh, sent telegrams to the governor, and to the committee co-chairmen, Thomas Kennedy, Hazleton, and W. F. Rockwell, Jr., Pittsburgh, and the Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce, in which he said such a levy "means extermination for many of our members and unemployment to 2,000 of our 6,000 employes."

He said that the proposed tax would have a proportionately bad effect on suppliers of such commodities as glass, cartons, crowns and trucks.

No Abuses in Special Fund, Governor Says

HARRISBURG (UP) — Gov. George M. Leader has cleared Labor and Industry Secretary John R. Torquato in the handling of a special $1,170,000 fund under Torquato's jurisdiction.

Leader said that a "study" was made of the fund and on the basis of report submitted to him he "knows of no abuses."

Leader told a news conference Thursday that the study should not be construed as an investigation.

"We have made no great effort—this has been handled purely in a routine manner," the governor said. But he added that when the fund was established in 1936 the Legislature provided "very adequate" safeguards. For this reason he is preparing to have control of the fund transferred to the state Budget Bureau.

Torquato said recently the fund has been used for work in migratory labor programs and tracing and recovery of lost and stolen checks and fraud prevention and detection.

'Safest Route'

"In government where you always proceed by the safest possible route, we ought to take the safest approach," Leader said. "I wouldn't want any funds in the governor's office where proper safeguards had not been set up."

He said he has asked Attorney General Thomas D. McBride for a formal opinion on the legality of transferring jurisdiction over the fund to the Budget Bureau. He said that if legislation were needed for such a transfer, it would be drawn up and submitted to the General Assembly.

The fund accumulated from fines and penalties levied against employers who failed to make their proper payments to the state's unemployment compensation fund.

Leader first told the news conference that as far as he knew the fund had never been audited. Later, fiscal authorities said that it had been.

The governor also denied that he had any intention of replacing Torquato as head of the Labor and Industry Department.

The chief executive said his budget message will be delivered to a joint session of the General Assembly Feb. 4. But he refused to confirm a report that the fiscal blueprint for the next biennium will top the $2,000,000 mark for the first time in the state's history.

He will also report to the electorate on the state of the Commonwealth in a special television broadcast Saturday. The broadcast will be carried over 11 key stations at 6 p.m.

Chamber Reservations Close Monday at 5

Reservations for the annual Monessen Chamber of Commerce meeting must be made by 5 p. m. Monday, Carl Milsom, chairman of the ticket committee, stated today.

The meeting will be held Wednesday at the Slovak Home at 335 Schoonmaker avenue. A. R. Maxwell, president of Pittsburgh Steel Co., will be the principal speaker.

Both men and women are invited to attend.

Gulf Geologist Under Doctor's Care in Probe

PITTSBURGH (UP)—A geologist who admitted stealing valuable exploration maps from Gulf Oil Corp. has suffered a nervous breakdown under strain of investigation of the case, his attorney said today.

Thomas W. B. Smith, whose cooperation with the FBI led to the indictment of four men in the map thefts last Dec. 27, has been under a doctor's care at his home here for several days.

"This has been a terrific ordeal for him," his attorney, Alexander Cooper, said. "He had suffered a nervous breakdown before and the strain has been too much for him."

The government charges that Smith looted the Gulf map room at the company's headquarters here and turned maps of potential oil reserves over to men who tried to peddle them in the underworld. Smith was named as a co-conspirator in federal grand jury indictments but was not listed as a defendant.

U.S. Atty. D. Malcolm Anderson said today the government still has "a long way to go before" its investigation of the map piracy is completed.

63 Deaths Blamed on Nationwide Cold Wave

By UNITED PRESS

One of the nation's worst cold waves showed no signs of relenting today.

Instead, icy winds brought fresh snow to scattered sections of the country and gusts up to 55 miles per hour sent dust clouds swirling in the plains.

Buffalo, N.Y., was buried by a 7-inch snowfall during a two and one-half hour period Thursday night, boosting the total accumulation there to 14 inches.

Records continued to fall as below zero readings gripped most of Pennsylvania, New York state, New England, sections of the Great Lakes and upper Mississippi Valley, the Northern Rockies and the Northern Plateau.

The mercury plummetted to an unofficial 35 degrees below zero overnight at Thompson, Conn. It sank to 23 below at Litchfield, Conn., and 11 below at Hartford.

A three below zero reading in Detroit Thursday shattered the previous record low reading for that date of minus 2.4 set in 1893.

Temperatures plunged to an all-time record low of 12 below in Youngstown, Ohio, Thursday, and other records for the date were set in Cleveland and Pittsburgh, with 3 below, Parkersburg, W. Va., 9 below and Columbus, Ohio, 7 below.

The toll of lives and property damage in accidents directly attributed to the weather mounted steadily.

A United Press count since the frigid weather embraced most of the nation Monday showed at least 63 weather-caused deaths. There were 12 in Indiana, nine in Illinois, eight in New York, six each in North Carolina and Pennsylvania, four each in Michigan and Massachusetts, three each in West Virginia and Virginia, two in both Iowa and Maine, two elsewhere in

Relief Expected for Area Coal Miners

Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp., which last weekend announced the closing down of its Vesta No. 4 coal mine, today announced it planned to increase production at its Shannopin mine in Bobtown, Greene County, by 60 per cent by April 1.

Despite this encouraging announcement, the action will bring only slight relief immediately to the California district which faces an economic crisis when the Vesta No. 4 closes on that day.

The added production would mean jobs for 250 more miners, but about 200 of these would be miners previously furloughed at the Shannopin mine.

Only a few of the 790 men who will be idled by the Vesta No. 4 closing will find jobs at Shannopin.

E. R. Cooper, general manager of the firm's Vesta-Shannopin Division, said eventually it is planned to more than double output at the Shannopin mine, from 3,000 tons daily to 8,000. This would mean further additions to the work force.

The Shannopin mine currently employs about 400 men.

With the expansion at Shannopin, J&L hopes to curtail some of the tonnage drop which will result from the closing of Vesta No. 4.

Meanwhile, three municipal groups have joined a move to get state and national aid for the California district when the Vesta mine closes down. They were the boroughs of Centerville and California and the Washington County Boroughs Association.

The new groups are backing Washington County commissioners, who last Monday sent resolutions to U.S. Sens. Edward Martin and Joseph Clark, and Gov. George M. Leader and Rep. Thomas Morgan (D-Pa.) asking aid for the area.

The Washington County Boroughs Assn. at a meeting Thursday night, said it would send appeals for aid to President Eisenhower and United Mine Workers president John L. Lewis.

Torquato's Brother Is Included on the List

Robert Torquato, of Fellsburg road near Route 71, R. D. 1, Belle Vernon, a brother of Labor and Industry Secretary John R. Torquato, was included on the list of 23 persons on the payroll of the controversial special $1,170.00 fund in the State Labor and Industry Department.

Robert was listed as an administrative officer, with compensation of $245 bi-weekly.

Records of operation of the fund were taken over for "study" recently by the office of Gov. George M. Leader. The governor said at his news conference Thursday a report of the study indicated "no abuses."

The secretary said his brother was in charge of investigations of claims, losses and stolen checks involving payments into the state's Unemployment Compensation Fund, in Westmoreland, Allegheny and Washington counties.

Others on the list, together with their bi-weekly salaries and duties were:

Robert C. Barr, 1735 Bellau Drive, Pittsburgh, principal investigator, $222; Millard F. Brinham, 1813 Derry St., Harrisburg, senior assistant investigator, $130; John T. Burns, 230 Wyoming Ave., West Pittston, senior assistant investigator, $130; Helen Califano, 4002 Rosemont Ave., Drexel Hill, junior investigator, $92; Raymond A. Constable, 709 E. Farm Show Closes With Livestock Sale

HARRISBURG (UP)—The 1957 Pennsylvania Farm Show closes its five-day stand here today with the sale of prize winning livestock raised by farm youths.

A total of 113 baby beeves and 31 pens of lambs will go on the auction block in the arena.

Lancaster County 4-H Club members won top honors Thursday in the youth events.

Glenn Foreman, 15, Manheim, took the grand championship in 4-H baby beeves with "Rex", a 1,075-pound Angus. The reserve grand championship went to Herbert Frey, 19, Lancaster RD 1, with another Angus, 990-pound "Blackie."

Foreman and Frey also won the Angus breed championship and reserve championship, and in the finals they competed against the Hereford and Shorthorn breed champions and reserve champions.

The grand championship in 4-H lamb pens went to Mary Keene, Christiana RD 1, and the reserve grand championship to Nancy Gibble, Elizabethtown RD 3, both Lancaster County, with their Southdowns.

Nancy Werner, 10, Hanover RD 2, York County, captured the Hereford breed championship, and Leona Augsburger, 15, Reinholds RD 1, Lancaster County the breed reserve championship. The Shorthorn championship was won by Robert Otto, 11, Mt. Holly Springs in Cumberland County, and the reserve title by Ronald Kreider, 12, Lebanon RD 4.

Show officials estimated attendance at the mid-winter exposition during the week will top the 500,000 mark. They estimated that 150,000 toured the 14-acres of buildings Thursday, the biggest crowd of the week.

At Least 16 Servicemen Are Killed in Crashes

By UNITED PRESS

At least 16 servicemen have been killed in military air disasters, 12 of them in a fiery crash of an Air Force weather plane in Alaska.

There were no survivors in the wreck of the storm charting weather plane. It was carrying about 10,000 gallons of gasoline when it crashed and exploded Thursday shortly after taking off from Fairbanks, Alaska.

Hours later, a $1.2 million Air Force 57 bomber crashed into a Biggs Air Force base motor pool, killing its two crewmen and igniting thousands of gallons of gasoline and jet fuel.

Darby Mentioned by GOP

WASHINGTON (UP)—Some Republicans in Congress today sounded out former Sen. Harry Darby of Kansas about his becoming a candidate for the chairmanship of the Republican National Committee.

Darby is a veteran member of the National Committee and was one of the early organizers and leaders of the "draft Eisenhower" movement in 1952.

H. Meade Alcorn Jr., national committeeman from Connecticut, has been reported to be the leading candidate for the chairmanship and to have White House approval.

The National Committee will meet here Saturday. Retiring Chairman Leonard W. Hall will name a subcommittee at that time to sound out the President on his choice or choices for the chairmanship vacancy. Then on Tuesday, the day after Mr. Eisenhower's inauguration, the full committee will meet again to accept Hall's resignation and to elect a successor.

The committee will accept the President's choice, if he names only one man. If he mentions several, it will then choose the new chairman from among them.

Pitfalls of Prosperity Big Problem of Church Leaders

By LOUIS CASSELS

WASHINGTON (UP) — One of America's most pressing religious problems, a church leader said today, is finding a Christian path through the pitfalls of prosperity.

Our unprecedented abundance, said the Rev. Cameron P. Hall of the National Council of Churches, carries with it an unprecedented danger. For the first time in history, a whole nation is subject to the temptations that Christ had in mind when he warned that it is "easier for a camel to pass through the eye of a needle than for a rich man to enter the kingdom of heaven."

Hall is director of the National Council's economic life division which has asked 400,000 Protestant churches across the country to devote the week of Jan. 20-26 to conscience-searching examination of the question: "Can we stand abundance?"

In an interview, Hall listed several ways in which our growing economic wealth can produce spiritual poverty.

Points Out Danger

One danger, he said, is that we may become so obsessed with our material possessions that we crowd other values out of life.

"The Christian faith does not go all out against materialism," he said. "It affirms that material things are not to be denied but, in their place, enjoyed. But life is so made that material values cannot have first place without hurting and ultimately destroying individual and social well-being."

The average American today is uniquely tempted toward materialism, he said, because he "lives on the level of his wants and not like much of the world, on the level of his minimum needs."

Human wants have an "apparently unlimited capacity to multiply and expand," especially when they are fanned by the techniques of modern salesmanship. "The result, generally, is that instead of our 'keeping up with the Joneses,' each of us has become one of the Joneses, inciting others to emulation, envy and pride."

Hall said the church found it "relatively easy" in hard times to teach "thrift, simplicity and sacrifice," the Christian virtues of self-discipline through which material possessions are kept in proper perspective.

But it is much more difficult in this period of prosperity to convince people that thriftiness, simple living and self-denial are necessary to "wholeness of life."

Closely related to the threat of materialism, he said, is the tendency to be selfish with our abundance in a world where "for millions of others, unrelieved hunger is a way of life."

"The sharp thrust of Jesus' saying cannot be escaped by any thoughtful Christian in the United States: 'Every one to whom much is given, of him shall much be required.'

"Because Americans have so much of what looks like superabundance in contrast to what others do not have, more may rightly be expected of us by way of justice, generosity and sacrifice.

"When we measure what we keep' to spend on ourselves, we should be embarrassed in labeling 'sacrifice' what we share through our private or public assistance programs."

Anyone who is inclined to think that Americans are being generous with their wealth, Hall said, should note that total private donations to all church and welfare organizations today amount to about one per cent of the national income after taxes. That is the same percentage that prevailed 30 years ago — before there was any talk about a religious revival.

"Our standard of living has soared above that of yesterday; our standard of giving has stayed where it was."

McCarthy Is Game

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UP)—When Jack Ledford, 31, walked into police headquarters Wednesday night and announced he could lick the four biggest and toughest officers in the place, Lt. E. L. McCarthy called out four officers and gave him the chance to prove it. McCarthy's men threw Ledford in a cell and booked him on a drunkenness charge.

B52 Jets on Last Leg of Around the World Flight

Scheduled to Land Today on Pacific Coast

MARCH AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (UP)—Three B52 jet bombers of the U.S. Air Force headed in from the Pacific today towards California on the last leg of a record-breaking non-stop flight around the world.

It was the first time the huge eight-engined planes have circled the globe non-stop on a simulated combat mission. They were certain to break the existing record for such a flight.

The record was set in 1949 by the Air Force's Lucky Lady II, a B50 which took 94 hours for the 2,452-mile flight.

The B52's are expected to make the flight in 44 to 48 hours, depending on weather conditions.

They were due to land at this base in southern California about mid-day.

Five of the huge planes had started the flight late ednesday from Castle Air Force Base near Merced, Calif., in central California.

One of the five planes landed by plan in England, the first of the B52's ever to visit that country.

A second plane was reported to have dropped out of the formation because of mechanical trouble. It was said to have landed at an undisclosed foreign field. Air Force officials refused immediately to confirm this report.

The route of the three remaining planes was reported to have taken them southward along the European coast, across the Mediterranean, the Middle East, the Indian Ocean and the Philippine Islands.

The B52 is equipped to carry the hydrogen bomb. Its speed is repurted to be 650 miles an hour.

Several weeks ago, eight B52 bombers flew non-stop around North America to the North Pole and back, covering 13.500 to 17.000 miles at an average speed of 520 miles an hour.

Deaths

New England, and one each in Mississippi and the District of Columbia.

Four children ranging in age from 8 months to 13 years were killed Thursday night when a fire destroyed their five room home at Wareham, Mass. Their mother and another child escaped the flames.

Two infant boys burned to death when a flash fire destroyed their home at Phippsburg, Me., Thursday night.

At Indianapolis, a workman loosening frozen coal Thursday was killed when he was buried under an avalanche of tons of fuel in a 50-foot storage bin.

A New Alexandria, Pa., mechanic died of carbon monoxide poisoning while working in a filling station garage on cars stalled by the cold. A motorist at Arnold, Pa., was found dead in his carbon monoxide-filled garage where he had gone to start his stalled car.

Ice closed the Detroit River for the second straight day, and for the first time in many years, residents of Walpole and Russell Islands in St. Clair River could walk across the ice to the mainland.

Five persons in Chicago were injured when an "el" train skidded on icy rails and rammed into a terminal bumper.

The cold air blasts penetrated as far south as northern Florida and below freezing temperatures were recorded in the Middle Gulf Coast region.

Gusty winds in the Plains churned up blowing dust mixed with snow.

Light to moderate snowfalls also hit the Great Lakes region and southward into the Ohio and mid-Mississippi Valleys.

Temperatures moderated somewhat from the Great Lakes to eastern Texas and Oklahoma, but the warmup lifted the mercury only a few degrees.

Weathermen said snow flurries will continue today from the upper Mississippi Valley to the Great Lakes and New England. Generally fair weather is expected elsewhere.

Minor Judiciary To Meet Sunday

The Minor Judiciary and Constables Association of Washington County will meet at the courthouse in Washington Sunday at 2 p. m. to elect officers for 1957.

Present officers are Raymond Curley, of Charleroi, president; Charles Hazlett, of Speers, and A. D. Higginbottom, of Washington, vice presidents, and David Wilson, of Washington, secretary.

Cutting Red Tape

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Post Office Department announced today that its drive on cutting red tape has eliminated us eof 1,685 types of forms since 1953.

ICC Trying to Cut Bus, Truck Crashes

WASHINGTON (UP) — Pennsylvania congressmen have been assured the Interstate Commerce Commission is attempting to reduce bus and truck accidents on Pennsylvania highways.

ICC Chairman Owen Clarke, in letters to Pennsylvania's congressional delegation Thursday, outlined several steps the agency has taken. His letters were in reply to correspondence the congressmen transmitted from Gov. George M. Leader, requesting the ICC to crack down on unsafe trucks on state highways.

Clarke said the commission, following a series of fatal run-a way truck accidents on Pennsylvania and Maryland highways in 1955, changed its brake regulations for trailer trucks and other combination commercial vehicles.

"We are convinced that compliance with requirements of this order," he wrote, "will substantially reduce hazards due to equipment failure."

Clarke said it also is important to have adequate maintenance of trucks and "that drivers be required to observe proper driving practices."

The ICC chief noted the safety staff has been expanded from 45 to 100 inspectors and it is now possible to order off the road any vehicle found "to be imminently hazardous as to be likely to cause an accident."

A number of motor carriers were prosecuted last year on charges of failure to comply with ICC regulations, Clarke said.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Rosalie Robinson; a son, John Lee, Jr.; a daughter, Mrs. Norma Jean Byrd, both of Philadelphia; three grandchildren; one brother, James, of New York and one sister, Allie Robinson, of Huntingdon, W. Va.

Friends will be received at the late home beginning at 2 p. m. Saturday.

Bobo Planning Business Career

CHICAGO (UP)—Mrs. Barbara (Bobo) Sears Rockefeller, the former Cinderella girl whose marriage to Winthrop Rockefeller ended in divorce, has decided to become a business woman.

Chicago attorney Nathan N. Powell, an adviser to Bobo, said today she is one of a group of investors who have bought land on the city's Northwest Side for construction of a plush $750,000 motel.

He said Bobo herself will plan the interior decoration for the project, which is to be built this year.

The blonde daughter of a Pennsylvania coal miner reportedly received a $6 million settlement from Rockefeller, whom she married in 1948. The couple had one son during their stormy marriage. They were divorced in 1954.

Rarick

Rarick's bribe charge as "a plain unmitigated lie."

Rarick, speaking before USW locals from the U.S. Steel Corp., and Bethlehem Steel plants here, said that next month's election marks the first time since the founding of the union that more than one name will appear on the ballot for president.

Sees Ballot Victory

The rebel candidate told his audience there is a rising tide in his favor and that his slate will win by a "big majority if we get an honest (ballot) count" in the Feb. 12 election.

Rarick said that Joseph of Buffalo was defeated last year for union vice president by Howard Hague because "Joe Moloney's election was stolen in many ways."

He proposed that the vote tabulation be made either by the Honest Ballot Assn., the courts or a college, "because such procedure is allowed under the union constitution."

"I think the rank and file of the steelworkers are more interested in getting better pensions, fully paid hospital coverage, premium weekend pay and other fringes rather than pay increases," Rarick told his audience.

Speedy Congressional Action On Refugee Program Dimmed

WASHINGTON (UP) — Administration hopes for speedy congressional action on its Hungarian refugee program dimmed today.

Chairman Francis E. Walter of the House Immigration subcommittee announced the subcommittee will conduct an investigation of the Hungarian refugee program as it has been conducted so far.

Walter said no refugee legislation will be considered by the subcommittee until the investigation is completed.

He said the subcommittee wants to find out how effectively the government screened Hungarian refugees already admitted to the United States. He said the subcommittee also wants to learn how far the administration "intends to go" in granting temporary admission to refugees fleeing Red terror.

President Eisenhower is expected to send Congress specific proposals for refugee legislation within the next two weeks. Walter said the subcommittee would decide Tuesday when to open its investigation.

Other congressional news:

Racketeering: A Senate subcommittee investigating labor racketeering summoned a top aide of Teamsters President Dave Beck to tell whether his union has given permission to cover up "diversion of union funds to private gain." Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark) indicated protection would would be given a Mrs. Geraldine Taylor of Bayonne, N.J., who told investigators she feared gang reprisal for her testimony.

Atom Subs: Sen. Henry M. Jackson (D-Wash) said he would look into a Navy decision to cut back its atomic submarine program. Jackson said he was "alarmed" at the decision because the atomic sub represents "the great hope of the Navy."

GI Home Loans: Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson picked up support for his bill to extend $1.4 billion for GI home loans. Democratic Sens. John J. Sparkman (Ala), Lister Hill (Ala), J. Strom Thurmond (SC), and Estes Kefauver (Tenn) joined him in sponsoring the bill.

Newsprint: Sen. Karl E. Mundt (R-SD) has asked both the administration and Congress to look into "sharp and continuing rises" in the price of imported Canadian newsprint. Mundt introduced a resolution to have the Senate Banking Committee make the investigation.

Civil Rights: Chairman Emanuel Celler expects quick approval of his House Judiciary Committee on the administration's civil rights program. Celler said his committee completed exhaustive hearings on similar legislation last year and wants to "get rid of" it promptly this session.

Weather

some moderation in the frigid weather for Sunday with a return to cold temperatures the early part of next week.

The weather bureau at Harrisburg said temperatures throughout the state would average six to eight degrees be'ow normal during the next five days.

It will be quite cold again tonight with low temperatures near zero in north portion and near 10 in the south portion. Saturday will be mostly fair in the east portion with snow or snow flurries in the higher elevations of the central part of the state and in the western half.

Fair and somewhat milder weather is forecast for Sunday.

GOP on Hunt For Author of Mystery Wires

NEW YORK (UP)— The mystery of the "Harold E. Stassen" telegrams today sent Republicans on a hunt for their author.

The telegrams dispatched over Stassen's signature from Stamford, Conn., Wednesday night could influence the outcome of next Tuesday's election of a Republican national chairman.

The political whodunit was revealed in Washington Thursday when Rep. Carroll B. Reece (R-Tenn) disclosed he had received a "confidential" telegram denouncing the "Nixons and Knowlands" in the GOP and urging the election of H. Meade Alcorn Jr. of Connecticut as national chairman.

Forty-three identical telegrams were received by other GOP officials.

Stassen, on learning of the telegrams at United Nations Headquarters here, promptly telephoned Reece and denied any connection with the wires.

Alcorn is reported to have the inside track as Hall's successor, but Stassen's support of him as a candidate might be considered a kiss of death in some quarters. Stassen put himself in virtual isolation as the result of leading an unsuccessful "dump" Nixon drive just before last year's GOP nominating convention.

Channel Allotted

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Federal Communications Commission today allotted Channel 19 to Johnstown, Pa., in an order shifting it from Altoona, Pa., effective Feb. 21.

Announce Grant for Canonsburg Station

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Federal Communications Commission today announced a grant for an AM radio station at Canonsburg, Pa., to Douglas and Associates, Inc., of Houston, Pa.

The grant authoried daytime operation on 540 kilocycles with a power of 250 watts.

Two Area Persons On Grand Jury Duty

Two district persons have been selected to serve on the Fayette County grand jury for the week of Feb. 25, it was announced today by Jury Commissioners James P. Gleason and James J. Robinson.

Named were Mrs. Lavinnie Woodward, of Perryopolis, R. D. and Howard Haines, of Fayette City.

Malemute Saloon Destroyed by Fire

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (UP)— The old Malemute saloon, an Alaskan landmark, and three other buildings were destroyed by a fire which raged out of control here for several hours early today.

Damage was estimated at $200,000. One unidentified fire fighter collapsed from smoke inhalation and was treated at a local hospital.

Husband Hears From His Wife

PATERSON, N.J. (UP)— An irate husband who aired a family dispute in the Paterson Evening News heard from his estranged wife in the same fashion.

On Jan. 15 Alphonse de Marco inserted the following in the personal column: "My wife, Anna de Marco, having left my bed and board, I will no longer be responsible for any debts incurred by her on or after Jan. 15, 1957."

The reply Thursday: "Alphonse de Marco, having read your item in the paper I feel it my responsibility to let you know you never did pay any of my debts or the support of my children and I, so there's no need to worry about any bills now. Anna de Marco, 31, East 12th St."

'Kids' Blamed in Racial Violence

Florida Governor Aroused

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UP) — Tallahassee authorities today blamed latest racial violence here on "high school kids" but promised Gov. Leroy Collins everything possible will be done to stop it.

Collins Thursday urged "immediate and effective" action to halt vandalism against Negro property such as the shooting at a Negro leader's home and brick throwing at parked cars two nights ago.

But integration campaigns waged by Negroes here and in Montgomery, Ala., have been accompanied by recurring damage of Negro property In Montgomery four churches and two homes were dynamited eight days ago.

"This kind of lawlessness is inexcusable and it must be stopped," Collins said. "I hope the city and county authorities realized the necessity for immediate and effective action."

'Must Be Stopped'

Mayor John Humphress said he believed the latest incidents were the work of "high school kids" but added, "it is dangerous and must be stopped."

Police Chief Frank Stoutamire said, "I'm meeting my policemen shift by shift and telling them I expect them to do something about it."

In Montgomery, Police Chief C. J. Ruppenthal disclosed several suspects, both Negro and white, have been arrested but released for lack of evidence.

Other developments in the South's racial segregation controversy included:

1. The University of Alabama sought to defend itself against federal contempt action at a hearing in Birmingham stemming from the expulsion of a Negro co-ed, Autherine Lucy, after campus rioting last February. The co-ed, now Mrs. Autherine Lucy Foter, had been admitted under federal court order She was expelled for accusing the university of starting the riots to provide an excuse for expelling her.

Court Studies Plea

2 The Alabama court of appeals took under advisement the plea of Negro minister Martin Luther King for dismissal of a $500 fine imposed for his leadership in a 12-month racial bus boycott in Montgomery King was convicted under a little-used anti-boycott law during the early stages of the long racial protest against bus segregation in Montgomery, which ended with court-ordered bus integration.

3. Federal District Judge Herbert Christenberry in New Orleans Thursday ruled that Louisiana State University cannot deny admission to a Negro graduate student, Miss Arnease Ludley, 23, or any other similarly qualified Negro applicants. The university had ruled her ineligible under a 1956 state law requiring applicants to produce certificates of "eligibility or good moral character" from local school officials.

13-POUND BIRTH — Biggest baby ever born normally in St. Francis hospital, Evanston, Ill., is John M. Wiodarczyk, who just about overflows from his bassinet. He weighed in at 13 pounds, 2½ ounces.

Senate Probers Promise to Help Woman Witness

WASHINGTON (UP)—Sen. John L McClellan said today Senate investigators "have ways" to protect a frightened woman whose testimony linked certain union officials with a hoodlum indicted in the acid blinding of labor reporter Victor Riesel.

McClellan did not specify what protection could be afforded Mrs. Geraldine Taylor of Bayonne, N.J He said he would leave that for the union officials "who were present and listening" to her testimony Thursday to figure out.

Mrs. Taylor, fearful of gang vengeance, told McClellan's subcommittee that she feared what would happen to her if she told all she knows about John Dioguardi, alias Johnny Dio, and officials of New York City Local 227 of the now-defunct AFL Auto Workers.

The subcommittee, which is conducting a broad investigation of labor racketeering, later questioned Mrs. Taylor behind closed doors.

Four Children Burn to Death In Massachusetts

WAREHAM, Mass. (UP)—Only Mrs Mary Smith and the eldest of her five children escaped from her burning five-room, one and a half story home Thursday night. Her other four children burned to death.

Mrs Smith, whose husband, Jack, 06, has been hospitalized with a nervous breakdown for three weeks, told Fire Chief Clifton H. Keyes she attempted to save her eight-month-old baby, Annette, after she discovered the fire but "dropped her" inside the small kitchen as she fell through the kitchen doorway.

Keyes said Mrs. Smith told him that when she and Beulah, 14, could not return to the blazing cottage, she ran to her father's nearby home for aid.

When firemen arrived, they found the home engulfed in flames and were unable to rescue Kenneth, 13, Phyllis, 10, Chester, 5, and Annette.

10,000 Alpacas Are Killed by Drought

LIMA, Peru (UP)—A drought in southern Peru has caused death by starvation to at least 10,000 alpacas, which are prized for their fine wool, it was reported today.

The Association of Wool Producers told the government the drought threatens to kill some 15 million head of beef and wool animals.

Communities Vie for Development Award

Monessen district communities served by West Penn Power Co. and Western Pennsylvania National Bank were informed today that they can double or possibly triple any part of the $20,000 in cash prizes offered in a statewide Community Development contest for 1957.

The contest, sponsored by the state Chamber of Commerce, will see more than 300 communities throughout the state compete for the 35 prizes ranging from $100 to $1,500 for industrial, commercial and public improvements.

West Penn Power Co. and Western Pennsylvania National Bank reported they will "sweeten the pot" by matching any prize money won by communities they serve For example, a community served by West Penn Power would receive an equal amount of money from the company for any cash prize it won in the contest.

WPNB agreed to do the same thing in the areas serviced by its 14 offices. A community served by both the utility company and bank would therefore receive triple in the amount of money it won in the contest.

West Penn provides service in 18 counties. WPNB has community offices in Belle Vernon, Braddock, California, Dravosburg, Finleyville, Forest Hills, McKeesport, Monongahela, Pittsburgh, Roscoe, Sharpsburg, Smithton and White Oak.

WPNB and West Penn Power have taken wide interest in community development in recent years. The bank has actively participated in projects in the Yukon-Smithton area, California, Pa., and the Rehoboth Valley Planned Industrial District in the Monongahela Valley.

An example of industrial development is the Rehoboth Valley project undertaken by the Monongahela Valley Area Enterprises, Ind., made up of civic leaders from Belle Vernon, Bentleyville, Charleroi, Donora, Monongahela and Monessen.

The group employed the consulting engineering firm of Michael Baker, Jr, Inc, of Rochester, Pa., to develop a 120-acre site into 13 industrial tracts for smaller and medium size industrial plants.

WPNB, which has community offices in Belle Vernon and Monongahela, and West Penn Power, which supplies electric power in the area, participated in the project. WPNB Bice President Thomas Malpass, Jr., is president of Mon Valley Enterprises.

The 1957 Community Development Contest is the third in an annual series sponsored by the State Chamber and cooperating agencies. In cash awards, it will far exceed the 1955 and 1956 contests, in which the prize money totaled $10,000 and $15,000 respectively. Only 12 awards were made in 1955, and 16 will be made at the close of the current 1956 competition.

The 35 prizes to be awarded in the 1957 contest will be divided among five population classes. Seven prizes, amounting to $1,500, $1,000, $500, $400, $300, $200 and $100, will be awarded in each of the following population categories: communities up to 2,000 from 2,000 to 5,000, from 5,000 to 10,000, from 10,000 to 25,000, and those over 25,000. In previous years there were fewer population classes, and only four prizes in each.

As in prior contests, the competing communities will be judged on the year-long progress they make on specific projects listed in their official entry blank. The entry blanks must be sent to the State Chamber of Commerce, Harrisburg, before March 31, 1957. The winners will be selected by a board of judges early in 1958 on the basis of scrapbooks reflecting each community's achievements.

Students Nabbed As Suspects in 'Bomb' Scare

RALEIGH, N.C. (UP) — Two North Carolina State College students picked up in a campus theft wave will be tried in city court today for setting off a home-made "bomb" in a newspaper building here.

Vincent Bellis, 18, of Penn Yan, N.Y., and Ray Morton Hall, 18, of Port Alleghany, McKean County, Pa., among five students under arrest, were charged with malicious damage to property.

The bomb consisting of a glass jar containing potassium chlorate, potassium ferri-cyanide and powdered sugar exploded in the lobby of the Raleigh Times-News and Observer Building Jan. 8, causing minor damage.

The students told police they made the bomb "for noise."

Hall and three other students will be tried in city court on Jan 28 on larceny charges.

City Detective R. E Goodwin said thefts from coin boxes and shoplifting had been investigated for "about six weeks." He said the suspects gave no motives but he said it "appears to be a thrill-seeking proposition."

Valley Bridge Club Awards Are Presented

The Magic City Bridge Club was entertained at the Charleroi Elks Club last night with 10 tables in play.

North-south awards were won by George Fegela, of Charleroi and Leo Schmertz, of Pittsburgh, first, Mrs. Alice Fiscus, of Charleroi and Mrs. E. J. Feeney, of Brookline, second.

There was a tie for first place in the east-west awards between Betty Evans and Mrs. Sara Park, of Fayette City and Morris Silverman of Pittsburgh and Mrs J. P. Ferguson, of Belle Vernon. Winning second east-west awards were Mrs. Inez Gossard, of Charleroi and Mrs. Frederic Feldman, of Belle Vernon.

Next Thursday there will be a dinner game and the installation of officers for the year.

Ancient Faiths Being Revived in Parts of India

BUCK HILL FALLS, Pa. (UP) —The Rev. Dr. James K. Mathews, missionary administrator, told the Board of Missions of the Methodist Church Thursday that Buddhism and Hinduism are being revived in India.

Dr. Mathews reported to the board holding its annual meeting here that this revival "will constitute one of the major challenges to the work of the church in the decades ahead."

He said along with the industrial and social developments that have taken place in India since her freedom from Great Britain in 1947, nationalistic fervor has "also tended toward a revival and revision of Buddhism and Hinduism and some other ancient faiths."

Dr. Mathews added that there also has been an occasional questioning of the motives of the Christian missionaries and some suggestions for "curbing the range of their activities."

He said the conservative State of Madhya Pradesh recently conducted an official "activities inquiry" of Christian missions but that its report should not be regarded as the attitude of the Indian government.

PTA Meeting Here Thursday At High School

The January meeting of the Monessen Parent Teacher Association has been re-scheduled for next Thursday evening, due to a postponement from last Wednesday night because of the Civic Music Association concert.

This will be the combined meeting of the PTA unit and the Monessen Education Association.

The speaker will be Mrs Bethel C. Lutz, librarian at the Charleroi Junior High School, who spent six weeks during the last summer attending a workshop course at the University of Oslo in Norway.

It was titled "The Institute of English Speaking Teachers" and was attended by teachers from many countries and outstanding Norwegian teachers. She will discuss, "The Educational System of the Scandinavian Countries".

Juanita Carter will present a vocal solo and also taking part in the program will be Swinda Waldemann, Monessen High School's exchange student and Veronica Zelnak, who will present a ballet dance.

Fayette County Plans Technical High School

Twenty Fayette County School Boards met in Uniontown last night and voted to give the County Board of School Directors authority to establish and operate an area technical school.

The county is the first county in Pennsylvania to formally approve a technical school, although the project has been under consideration by several other schools. Thus, Fayette County bids fair to become a pioneer in the field of technical education.

Twenty school boards in the county comprise Area 1 which has been designated as a district for technical training.

Of the 20 boards, only four were not represented by a majority group at last night's meeting. County Superintendent of Schools A. J. McMullen pointed out, however, that in previous meetings the four boards had expressed approval of the technical school project and that their vote will be accepted by the county office.

Seventy-one of the 120 board members in Area 1 attended the convention. When the vote on establishing the school was called, all 71 school board members present voted affirmatively.

Attending what one educator termed "this historic meeting of the Fayette County school boards" were William Cooper, Harrisburg, Vocational Educational director of the State Dept of Public Instruction, and William Stephenson, Pittsburgh, coordinator of Industrial Education.

Ralph M. Tencate, president of the Uniontown City School Board, moved that the Fayette County School Board appoint a committee to select a site for the area technical school, obtain financial details and check equipment and materials available.

The motion, seconded by John P. Petish of the South Union Twp. School Board, was unanimously approved by the directors.

Valley Painters Hear Report on Recent Convention

The Mon-Valley Chapter of the Painting and Decorating Contractors of America met recently at the Myford Hotel in Charleroi. Raymond Popp, president, conducted the meeting.

Popp gave a report on the recent Middle Atlantic Conference convention held in Philadelphia.

Other officers are George Boltze, vice president; Howard A. Dayner, secretary, and Pierre Luti, treasurer.

The organization, which is made up of distributors and dealers in painters' and decorators' materials and related equipment, has meetings scheduled for the first Tuesday of each month. The next session will be at Peasant Village on Feb. 5.

State VFW in Support of UMT As New Plan

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars today urged universal military training instead of the proposed six months active duty for new national guardsmen

Morton Fromm, Lock Haven, said in a letter to Cong. Overton Brooks (D-La), chairman of the House Armed Services Committee if the six-month training is urgent for new national guard enlistees "now is the time for the Congress to adopt universal military training."

"Adoption of the immediate six months duty, instead of continuing the present six months deferred training plan, will choke off enlistments," Fromm said. "This would mean a gradual attrition of guard strength and could conceivably mean the end of the guard Loss of guard strength will transfer the defense burden to the organized reserves which have always had difficulty attaining their maximum strength"

Publishers Fight to Protect the Public

HARRISBURG (UP)—Proposals to put "teeth" in present laws designed to protect the public's right to obtain public information will be discussed tonight by the Executive Committee of the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers' Association.

G. Richard Dew, PNPA general manager, said the committee will consider ways to block present loopholes that allow officials to bar the public from meetings and from records that rightfully should be open to the public.

PNPA officials will also consider, Dew added, state legislation that will specify for the first time that all public records, unless properly exempt, should be open to the public.

J. E. Holtzinger, president, Altoona Mirror, and Fred V. Knecht, general manager, Schuylkill Haven Call, will formally assume, respectively, the 1957 presidency and vice presidency of the association.

Outgoing president Rolland L Adams, publisher, Bethlehem Globe-Times, and vice president Blair M Bice, publisher Morrisons Cove Herald, Martinsburg, will be presented with plaques for their 1956 service.

Richard A. Swank, publisher, Duncannon Record, continues as PNPA secretary-treasurer, an office he has held since 1951.

Newly-elected members of the PNPA executive committee were Richard E. Rentz, publisher, New Castle News; Thomas L. Moran, general manager, Scranton Times; Henry A. Satterwhite, vice president and publisher, Bradford Era; Joseph Sansone, general manager, Lebanon News; and Donald Thomas, co-publisher, Canton Independent-Sentinel.

Re-elected to the executive committee were George M. Neil, Philadelphia Inquirer; David M. Turner, Towanda Daily Review; Stewart Townsend, Sharpsburg Herald; Charles M. Meredith, Bangor Daily News; A. E. Hickerson, Ardmore, Main Line Times; Thomas J. Donaghy, Newport News Sun; Herman E. Baseshore, Meyersdale Republican; James F. O'Connor, Pittsburgh Post-Gazette; James W. Knepper, Carnegie Signal-Item; W. F. Kegel, Ellwood City Ledger, and Thomas T. Andrews, Jr., New Bethlehem Leader-Vindicator.

Adams and Bice will remain on the executive committee as ex-officio members for two more years. Other ex-officio members for 1957 are PNPA's 1955 officers, G. A. Harshman, general manager, Sharon Herald, and Ross W. Buck, publisher Sewickley Herald.

Pennsylvanians Ready to Give Adopted Son Ike Big Sendoff

HARRISBURG (UP) — Pennsylvanians are ready to give their adopted son, President Eisenhower, a rousing and personal sendoff at the start of his second term during inauguration ceremonies in Washington Monday.

The Keystone State contingent which will converge on the nation's capital in 10 special trains and motorcades has purchased more than $25,000 worth of seats for the inaugural parade. This means 2,700 of the 50,000 seats available.

But the big showing in honor of Pennsylvania's No 1 citizen will be in the line of march, where the state will be represented by a 40 by 15 foot float—the maximum size permitted by the parade committee—two bands and a mounted unit.

The $4,500 float, pulled by an Air Force jeep, will be covered by 25,000 mountain laurel blossoms, the official state flower, and will carry two men in pioneer scout costumes and six girls representing all sections of Pennsylvania.

It will carry a stylized map of the state, containing replicas of outstanding and historic sites. The entire center will be a huge keystone, in green turf, with a precise scale model of the President's farm outside Gettysburg, including all the buildings, the new driveway and the putting green.

The front will pay tribute to Pennsylvania's western pioneers, with a reproduction of Fort Pitt surrounded by the new buildings of Pittsburgh's Golden Triangle. The top and rear will have reproductions of Independence Hall and the Liberty Bell.

The girls on the float, headed by Lorna Ringler, Upper Darby, Miss Pennsylvania of 1956, include Jenette Barthall, Royersford; Barbara Edmundson, Pittsburgh; Patsy McClay, Mt. Lebanon, and Sally A. Heim, Harrisburg.

Marching in front of the float will be three sisters from Red Lion: Alta Burg, 22, world champion baton twirler; Joyce, 16, state high school champion, and Dawn, 19, national one-baton champion.

Parade rules limit all states to three units. In addition to the float, Pennsylvania will have the 50-piece Valley Forge Military Academy band, and the 40-member mounted horse troop of the state police marching eight abreast.

Since Gettysburg is the home town of the President the Gettysburg High School Band also will be in the review, although not with the Pennsylvania contingent. It will march with the Citizens for Eisenhower section.

Democratic Gov. George M. Leader will be represented in the parade by Maj. Gen. Anthony J. Drexel Biddle, state adjutant general.

Republican State Chairman George I. Bloom said Pennsylvania's quota for the Inaugural Ball at the National Guard Armory has been exhausted. Boxes at that affair will be occupied by Bloom, Sen. and Mrs. Edward Martin; National Committeeman and Mrs. Jay Cooke, Philadelphia; National Committeewoman Gaynelle Dixon and Mrs. Katherine Martindale, president of the Pennsylvania Council of Republican Women.

3 Memorials

In loving memory of our dear mother and grandmother, Mrs. Mary Kotys, who died 25 years ago today, Jan. 18, 1932.
Dearest mother, in silence you suffered,
And with patience you bore
'Til God called you to Him
To suffer no more.
We took our sorrows all to you,
You'd smooth our troubled brow,
You always chased the clouds away,
We could not forget you now.
Gone into the light that shineth so fair,
Gone from this earth of sorrow and care,
Resting those hands that did their best,
Gone, dear mother, gone to rest.
What is home without our mother?
What are all the joys we meet ?
When her loving smile no longer
Greets the coming of our feet.
Dearest mother, how we miss you,
Since from earth you passed away,
And our hearts are aching sorely
As we think of you today.
Sadly missed by her Children and Grandchildren.

In loving memory of our dear wife, mother, mother-in-law and grandmother, Elizabeth Ann Bunda, who passed away one year ago today, January 18, 1956.
We miss you and love you mother dear,
Since you went away
No other one can take your place,
We'll always remember your kind and lovely face.
We miss and love you mother dear,
Our words cannot express.
God has taken you but left us
With a memory of your love, kindness and tenderness.
Sadly missed by husband, daughters, sons-in-law and grandchildren. Joseph Bunda and Daughters.

In loving memory of our dear husband and father, Richard D. Junk, who passed away six years ago today, January 18, 1951.
The depth of sorrow we cannot tell
Of the loss of one we loved so well,
And while he sleeps a peaceful sleep,
His memory we shall always keep.
Sadly missed by his wife, Mrs. Lillian Junk, and daughter, Nancy Lee.

Claims Drinking Can Cause Cancer

LONDON (UP)—A British doctor suggested today there may be a connection between drinking and cancer.

Prof. Dr. Ian Air wrote in the British medical journal that "cancer of the throat is certainly commoner in alcoholic subjects." He said he would start an investigation to determine whether there was any casual relationship.

History records that Herodotus gave author's readings in Athens about 446 B. C.

Chamber Warning of 'Business Directories'

Stephen J. Sterbak, chairman of the Monessen Chamber of Commerce's Business Affairs committee, warned local businessmen today about the misleading solicitation and sales campaigns of certain alleged "business directories".

Citing a bulletin from the National Better Business Bureau, with which the Chamber is affiliated, Sterbak stated:

"Thousands of business directories are published in America every year. Many of them are prepared by established and reputable firms. Directories published by such firms have become important trade tools, and are recognized as performing an important function in our economy.

"However, certain promoters have been taking a "free ride" on the value of reputable business directories. These promoters solicit businessmen to pay for listings in directories which have little or no established circulation or reputation. The methods used to solicit listings in such directories are frequently misleading."

One of the best-known types of misleading directory promotion, according to Sterbak, has been the "clip 'em and paste 'em" scheme. The promoters of this scheme clip the listings of business concerns from a recognized directory — frequently the yellow pages of the telephone book, according to Sterbak. These clippings are then pasted to forms which frequently resemble invoices, and these forms are then mailed to the companies, Sterbak stated.

Sterbak recommended that local businessmen should take the following steps to protect themselves and their firms, and to help stamp out misleading and worthless directory promotions:

1. Read carefully and fully every invoice or solicitation for directory listing that is received by the firm.

2. If there is any question as to whether or not a given listing has been authorized by the "main office", find out before authorizing such listing for branch offices or subsidiaries.

3. Information should be requested from the Chamber of Commerce regarding the reputation and standing of unfamiliar directories before insertions are authorized — particularly those directories which solicit listings through the use of invoice-type forms.

State Planning Uniform Standards For Institutions

HARRISBURG (UP) — Gov. George M. Leader said today he has called a meeting for next week with state and consulting architects and construction firms to design uniform standards for building state institutions.

Leader said the meeting, to be held at the Property and Supplies Department Building here Jan. 21-22, will be attended by members of the General State Authority, the construction agency of the administration, and members of the Joint State Government Commission, Public Instruction, Health and Welfare, and Property and Supplies departments.

The meeting was called to establish construction standards for college, hospital and institution buildings, including materials, design, site determination, and utilities and other facilities.

"Our plan essentially is to prescribe the room sizes for dormitories, class rooms, hospitals and institutions," he said. "We will also specify structural design and materials to be used. The only exception we will allow will be exterior design, to conform with surrounding local architecture.

"A survey of present construction methods indicates wastefulness caused by varied and expensive designs of buildings and lack of direction in planning and materials.

"We believe construction standards will result in the Commonwealth getting more building for less money, and also that students, patients and other users of such facilities will be adequately housed."

Braddock Police Chief Indicted

PITTSBUGH (UP) — Police Chief Edward Goldstein of Braddock was indicted by the Allegheny County grand jury Thursday on charges of false pretense and misdemeanor in office.

The veteran officer was accused of acting in a dual capacity as police chief and constable of record in cases for which he allegedly collected fees, although he had not been elected constable.

Twelve counts each of false pretense and misdemeanor were filed by County Detective Robert Noonan and Laurence Gibb, former special investigator in the district attorney's office.

Five Married by Proxy to Join Mates

GENOA, Italy (UP) — Five young Italian women married by proxy to Italian workers living in Venezuela were on their way to join their husbands today.

The brides left here Thursday aboard the Italian liner Surriento. Some of them have never met their husbands. They were courted by correspondence after an exchange of photographs.

Lane on Committee

WASHINGTON (UP) — Rep. Thomas J. Lane (D-Mass.), who served a jail term last year for income tax evasion, was renamed Thursday on the Brazilian tanker Judiciary subcommittee on federal claims.

Your Health—

You Should Balance Your Daily Diet

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

Do you have good stomach habits?

You do if you also have good eating habits. Your stomach, you see, becomes adjusted to the way you eat. It gets to expect a certain amount of food at each meal.

Those of you who skip breakfast entirely, or have only a cup of coffee and a doughnut, may soon develop bad stomach habits.

The same is true for all of you who eat a light lunch.

Unfortunately, there are many persons who eat little or nothing for breakfast or for lunch. They seem to subsist chiefly on coffee and maybe a ham sandwich and piece of pie until dinnertime.

Keep this up long enough and your stomach actually will rebel at eating things substantial in the morning or at noon.

Under such circumstances it means that you must get all of your basic seven foods (we've discussed these from time to time) at the evening meal — a virtual impossibility.

Even if you could eat all these vitally needed foods at one meal, it would not be a good way of supplying nourishment. The plain truth is that you need a substantial breakfast. There's no doubt about it.

Even though you sleep most of the hours between dinner and breakfast, you are burning up calories at a fairly rapid rate. In fact, you use between 1,200 and 1,500 calories during this period.

Consequently, your fuel supply is pretty low in the morning. You can replenish it by eating fruit or fruit juice, buttered bread and an egg or enriched cereal. Sometimes an egg or cereal is a good idea. Drink some milk, too.

Now I have nothing against coffee; I drink it myself. But it should not take the place of milk or any other important food. Drink it in addition to, rather than instead of others.

If you eat a full breakfast (cereal and an egg, plus the other foods), you probably can do with a light lunch and then a full dinner. With a medium breakfast, eat a medium lunch and a full dinner.

If a light breakfast is necessary for some reason, then I advise eating the biggest meal at noon and a fairly light supper.

Janis Paige in Big Comeback Via Television

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Seven years ago Janis Paige couldn't get a job in the movies. Today the Cinderella girl has staged a triumphant comeback.

On an MGM sound stage the red - haired, vivacious singer is finishing a role many a beauty would have given a mink for—dancing with Fred Astaire.

But the road she took to reach this movie success is full of more ups and downs than a soap opera.

"I left Warner studio in 1949," the actress said. "I was as cold as last year's turkey. I didn't have a job.

"But you find you have guts when you have problems. I started singing in nightclubs to make a living. It wasn't easy. The drunks. . .once I was sitting in a hotel in Birmingham and I said to myself, 'what am I doing here? Who knows I'm here? Who cares?'

"No matter how rough it was at times, it was all building toward something but I didn't realize that at the time. I didn't know where I was going.

Janis and the musical became a happy hit. But even the stars on top have to worry about staying there. She left the show for a TV-series. It wasn't successful.

Honor Due Those Who Fight Evil

THERE ARE valid differences of opinion among clergymen and church members as to the manner in which spiritual principles can best be made to influence temporal affairs in good directions. Some favor direct and positive action for specific and immediate objectives, while others prefer more subtle and indirect methods. And we think a case can be made for each point of view.

It is hard to conceive, however, that the members of a church served by a minister who has taken a firm public position against law breakers and corrupt politicians would allow him to be destroyed by those forces whose enmity he has earned by following his conscience.

So we congratulate the members of Rehoboth Presbyterian Church who this week clearly showed their loyalty to their pastor, the Rev. J. Nelson Jackaway, after he told them of the "pressure" he has been under as a result of his activities in "Operation: Crusade" and requested their support.

* * *

WE HAVE expressed the view here before that "crusades" against unwholesome community conditions have a way of being limited in both their usefulness and in their duration. As a general rule it seems to us more satisfactory to attack such problems in the normal operation of a vigorous two-party system.

When this system breaks down, however, as it has done in Westmoreland County, leaving an unprincipled political machine in unchallenged control of the community's political life, then, it seems to us, some extraordinary measures, even including a crusade of ministers, are warranted.

One need not have approved of everything "Operation: Crusade" has done in the five years during which it has been active to appreciate that, in general, its efforts have had a wholesome effect. At times, indeed, it has presented the only effective challenge to the partnership between the underworld and the political bosses.

Ministers, like Mr. Jackaway, who have participated in "Operation: Crusade" have made sacrifices for principles in which they have believed. And for this they deserve honor at the hands of their fellow citizens, not punishment at the hands of their enemies.

Dulles' Promises Go too Far

ALTHOUGH this paper has felt that President Eisenhower's new policy for the Middle East should be promptly supported by Congress, it seems to us that Secretary Dulles is being a little too positive with his assurances that this action will do everything he think — and we all hope — it will do.

Mr. Dulles, for instance, told the Senate the other day that if Congress does not approve the Eisenhower resolution in approximately the form in which it has been presented, there is "very great likelihood" that American troops will have to fight in the Middle East — and fairly soon.

But, he said, "If this resolution passes, there is very little likelihood" that the United States will have to fight.

This, it seems to us, is coming perilously close to promising something that neither Mr. Dulles nor anyone else can rightly promise. It takes us back to the campaign promise made by President Franklin D. Roosevelt a few months before Pearl Harbor when he said, "Your sons will not have to fight in any foreign war".

Undoubtedly the Secretary of State is sincerely convinced that Soviet Russia must be implicitly warned, by a joint action of the legislative and executive branches of the U. S. Government, not to attack or infiltrate the Middle East. And we agree that such a warning at this time might scotch any plans the Kremlin may have for seeking the long-desired Russian foothold in the Middle East.

But Mr. Dulles should not try to sell this idea as a pitchman would sell snake oil — as a sure cure for everything. For there is nothing sure about it at all. In fact, it carries the most serious risks, both because our purposes may be misunderstood in the Middle East itself (there are indications already that this is likely) and because the Russian leaders may be tempted to see whether we are bluffing.

No congressman should vote for the Eisenhower resolution as a panacea. He should vote for it only if he is convinced that American purposes must be made perfectly clear to the Russians and if he is willing to assume the serious risks that are involved.

Trend of U. S. Payroll Still Up

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON (UP)— Speaking of the dangers of inflation and the high cost of government, as President Eisenhower was doing in his budget message, here are some off-beat facts and figures:

The Tax Foundation, 30 Rockefeller Center, New York, recently calculated that the number of persons on the United States government payroll exceeds the population of Sweden; 7.4 million and 7.2 million, respectively.

Mr. Wilson

On a rough estimate of $3,500 as the average annual cost of our government employe, the payroll would be about $26 billion.

Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va) has heckled presidents for years to cut the federal payroll. This is the straightest road to economy, says Byrd. The trend seems, however, to be against him. A news item reported this week that some corridors in the enormous Pentagon building here were being partitioned to make more desk room for more government workers.

Deficit Financing Responsible

World War II and the Roosevelt-Truman policies of deficit financing substantially increased the public debt during the past quarter century. The annual interest on the public debt increased from $689 million in 1933, when FDR took over, to $7 billion in 1956.

The debt has increased from just more than $1 billion as of March, 1917, just before the United States entered World War I, to nearly $275 billion today. The interest is a first charge on Treasury revenue each year.

When the Treasury comes up at fiscal year-end with a surplus, which hasn't been often for many years, the administration must decide whether to cut taxes or nibble at the public debt. It is a hard choice.

May Set Record

The returns will not be in on President Eisenhower's first four years of tax collecting until the present fiscal year ends on June 30. He is averaging around $70 billion a year, however, which may give him a peacetime record when all the returns are in.

Mr. Eisenhower was in the red for a couple of years, but balanced the budget with a surplus to boot in fiscal 1956. He expects to repeat in the current fiscal year. The public debt has increased about $9 billion since he took over in 1953.

From 1933, when FDR entered the White House office, to the end of the Truman administration, the public debt increased from $22.5 billion to $266 billion. In 20 Roosevelt-Truman years, the budget was in balance with a surplus three times and 17 times in the red. World War II was partly responsible for all of this.

Stassen, Dulles Clash on Arms

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — The public doesn't realize it, but the latest American disarmament proposals were sent to the United Nations only after heated backstage bickering in Washington. The friction was chiefly between John Foster Dulles and Ike's disarmament adviser, Harold Stassen. It partly involved the vitally important problem of trying to entice the Russians out of Hungary, Poland, and other and. and othersatellite countries.

Mr. Pearson

The Stassen - Dulles jockeying match has reached the point where the two men, to put it mildly, are not fond of each other.

Trouble between them reached a climax in mid-December following receipt of the last Bulganin note to Eisenhower on disarmament. Stassen believed it offered genuine opportunities. He called a "backgrounder" — a semi-off-the-record conference in which newspapermen are given the view of high officials with no right to quote the views of those officials. Here he told newsmen the Bulganin note for the first time accepted, in part, the Eisenhower "open skies" proposal and offered optimistic possibilities for a genuine disarmament understanding.

Newspapers next day blossomed forth with headlines. It looked as if the United States and Russia were moving toward disarmament and peace. This was in mid-December.

Next day in Paris, Secretary Dulles, reading the headlines, held a "backgrounder" of his own. He called in pet members of the press and threw down Stassen's optimism — again not for quotation.

Secretary of the Treasury Himphrey was with Dulles in Paris. Prompted by Dulles, he too got into the "spank Stassen" act. Privately he complained to the White House, on his return, that Stassen was interfering with Dulles's conduct of foreign affairs.

Would Russia Leave Hungary?

Essential difference between Stassen and Dulles was that Stassen wanted to explore the possibility of Russia's withdrawing from the satellite countries. He read into the Bulganin note a possible Kremlin move for a graceful way out of the Hungarian mess.

If the Soviet leaders could sign a disarmament agreement whereby the United States pulled out of its NATO bases in Europe, Stassen figured the Russians might jump at the chance to save face and get out of Hungary, Poland, and the other satellites.

Some State Department advisers agreed with Stassen. They wanted to probe the situation further. But Dulles did not. He got his way. A curt note was sent Bulganin that future disarmament proposals should be conducted through the United Nations.

Accordingly, the next American proposal was put before the UN this week. Ironically, it contains many of Stassen's ideas, though it didn't give Moscow any opening for a graceful withdrawal from the satellites.

Ironically, also, it goes a long way toward adopting the Adlai Stevenson proposal for banning H-bomb tests which Ike had blasted so vigorously during the campaign that it made the voting public believe Stevenson was incompetent to handle these problems.

NOTE — Stassen works harder, gives more thought to disarmament than anyone else in the administration. He is also the most boycotted. Dulles shuns him as much as possible. Nixon, still resentful over last summer's opposition, is cold. Eisenhower still stands up for Stassen. But the tragedy is that the problem of peace, so precious to the American people, is caught in a bitter clash of personalities. Shortly before Christmas, for instance, Stassen pleaded with Eisenhower to let him fly to Moscow for direct negotiations with the Russians on the "open skies" proposal. Eisenhower turned him down, said this should be handled through the UN. Real reason for his veto, however, was John Foster Dulles, who doesn't like to have Stassen taking the lead in disarmament.

Washington Pipeline

John Dewey, son of the famed ex-Governor of New York and two-time GOP candidate for President, is partly a chip-off-the-old-block — partly not. A student at Princeton, John has his own ideas about politics, and they don't entirely coincide with his his father's. Says John: "If Nixon is nominated in 1960 I will vote the straight Democratic ticket." (The senior Dewey, once down on Nixon, threw his weight to the Vice President for renomination last summer.) . . . J. Parnell Thomas, New Jersey's ex-Congressman who went to jail for taking salary kickbacks from his secretaries, tried to settle a $21,362 income tax bill for only $100. Uncle Sam refused. He then offered $2,500, raised itt o $5,000, finally offered $12,200. The Treasury remained tough, finally accepted the ex-Congressman's pledge to pay a percentage of all his income over $5,000 annually from 1955 through 1961.

A Book About Books

By UNITED PRESS

After twenty years, England's great lady of letters has returned to the novel with "The Fountain Overflows" Viking).

In describing her long-overdue contribution, Rebecca West comments, "I only wrote this book, which is not to say that I am the best authority on what it means." Many a casual reader will nod in complete agreement.

It is the story of a journalist, his wife, and their four children, set fifty years ago in London, told by one of the younger of three daughters.

Like many a fictional and actual writer of great talent, Piers Aubrey, the father, has no practical sense. Like many a wife of such, Clare Aubrey loves with an understanding and patience that is wondrous to behold while she steers the growing children towards maturity. And she has much to cope with: an eldest daughter consumed with ambition to become a great violinist, but who is untalented; two younger daughters who are really good pianists; an even younger son who speaks with the sonority and wisdom which only Miss West could have put into his mouth.

Miss West has not lost her master's touch with words. That quality which is peculiarly hers of turning prose into poetry by the precise choice of words ripples throughout, sometimes so much so that the motivation of the story becomes lost in the beauty of the sound. But this is not her best work or easiest understood.

West German Prestige Is Growing Steadily

By CHARLES M. MCCANN

West Germany's importance in the European political set-up is growing rapidly.

It is being suggested that West Germany will be regarded before long as the strongest power on the Western European continent.

The latest evidence of this increased importance is the report that a German, Lt. Gen. Hans Speidel, is to be named commander-in-chief of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization ground forces in the Central European Zone.

In that capacity, Speidel would command American, British and French, as well as German, troops in that part of Western Europe which would be the first line in event of a war with Soviet Russia.

It is reported also that both President Theodor Heuss and Chancellor Konrad Adenauer will make state visits to Washington this spring.

Prestige Growing

The prestige of West Germany has been growing steadily for a long time.

Under Adenauer, the country has risen from utter prostration after the destruction of World War II to solid prosperity. Its 50 million people enjoy full employment. It is forming an army, navy and air force which will add between 300,000 and 500,000 men to the NATO defense alliance.

But West Germany's position was strengthened especially, as regards prestige, as the result of the British-French invasion of the Suez Canal Zone.

That operation, which hurt Britain and France, and resulted in a breach with the United States that has not yet been entirely overcome, made West Germany look better by contrast.

It seemed a matter of some significance that Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru of India made it a point to stop off at the Duesseldorf Airport on his way home from Washington last month to confer with Adenauer.

Russia Realizes Strength

No country realizes more than does Russia the strength and importance of West Germany.

East Germany, which Russia controls, is a splinter country with a contemptible puppet government. Of the 18 million people in East Germany, 1,723,000 have sought refuge in West Germany since 1949.

Because Russia sees the importance of the West German republic, it is determined not to permit the unification of the country.

If the anti-Communist surge of revolt in the satellite countries spreads to East Germany, it will bring about a crisis.

Both the Soviet and the West German governments fear that in the event of a revolt West Germans would flock across the border to support it. What Russia might do can not be foreseen. But the United States and other NATO countries are pledged to defend West Germany.

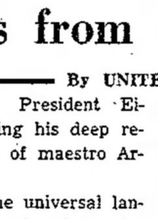
How Do Elvis Presley Fans Get that Way?

By MARGARET LATROBE

Every columnist who has mentioned Elvis Presley in terms less than adulatory has been blistered by letters from Presley fans — all of whom seem to have the sensitivity of a Mt. Hood seismometer recording earth tremors in the next block.

A composite picture of this mail is enough to scare the living daylights out of any but the most stiff-lipped psychiatrists. Gee, what'd I say to make them rush for their axes and vitriol? What sort of human beings are these Presley fans, anyway? And if these be for him, in all their blood-thirsty fervor — isn't he a little frightened by the pattern of his pals?



Mrs. Latrobe

So you ask. And the wrong people give you the wrong answers. "No, my kids bought a few records of the houn' dawg school of music — but now they laugh about Elvis." "Well, they like his recordings, but think he's ludicrous on television." The movie in which he sang "Love Me Tender?" Couldn't figure what all the squealing was about. "Love Me Tender" used to be Aura Lee — a fair college song — but with these words?"

It could be that this phenomenal following in Elvis' wake is the result of music lovers' tendency to fall into sealed compartments. Bartok addicts sometimes make it obvious that poor old Brahms is no longer around. Harpsichord enthusiasts listen to tinkling with the same exclusive rapture as do others whose preferences lie with Toscanini-directed symphony orchestras. Within the jazz contingent are well-defined separations — hot, sweet, cool and endless, usually.

Opera-goers have their tight little isles of adolatry. Some like the heavy sonority of Wagner, which will keep their drums vibrating from curtain time straight into next morning. Others lean to the coy skipping and prancing of "The Marriage of Figaro," disdaining the lethal dose of "Boris Goudonov" and its ponderous companion operas.

Whether this musical flock instinct is weakness or strength, I don't know. But it exists, sometimes to a humorous degree. Whether musical likes and dislikes are as pronounced as advertised, I wouldn't know. But music-lovers often make a "thing" of their own pet preferences. They are similar to clubs, membership by card only. The wild untutored masses are on the outside looking in. And the chamber music plays sweetly on — exclusively for your ears and mine.

Well, that leaves out a large number of citizens. Who have they to listen to? What have they to belong to? Somewhere in the world of music (music?) is a voice to sing out their kind of songs. If that voice belongs to a young fellow flouting the conventional nonsense of good taste, training, talent — even better. If he personifies vulgarity and ostentation in dress and performance — we got egg in our beer. With careful exploitation, both of a simple boy and his simple admirers, what have you? A whacking success, unheard of in the recording industry. A tribute to making a fast buck while the pickings are good. Culture —? Training? Talent?

We have our own club where those aren't recognized. We love Presley. He's our boy.

Sandra L. Randall Weds J .Fitzwater

Sandra Louise Randall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Randall, of Fayette City R. D. 1, became the bride of Jack Fitzwater, of Philadelphia, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester ztiwater on Saturday, Jan. 12, at 10 o'clock in the morning.

Their nuptials took place at St. Eusebius R. C. Church of Fayette City with the Rev. Henry Murphy, of St. Sebastian Church of Belle Vernon, celebrating the high mass. The church choir sang the "A v a Maria".

The bride was given in marriage by her father and was attired in a white gown of imported lace and tulle. The bodice was fashioned of lace with a high neckline and long sleeves ending in points at the wrist. The full tulle skirt was inserted with lace panels and was worn over heavy satin. The back of the skirt formed a chapel train. She wore a fingertip veil held to a tiara of seed pearls and sequins and she carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations.

Sister Is Attendant

Maid of honor was the sister of the bride. Anne Randall. She wore a blue gown of net over silk with matching velvet fly-away panels in the back and a stole. She wore a matching sweet heart hat with long velvet streamers and carried a cascade arrangement of white carnations.

There were two bridesmaids, Gertrude McDonough and Janice Varsel, of Gillespie and Fayette City R. D. 1 respectively. Their gowns were of rose color and were fashioned the same as that worn by the maid of honor. They also wore sweetheart hats and matching mitts and they carried colonial bouquets of white carnations. The streamers on the bouquets matched the gowns worn by the attendants

Best man was Robert McDonough, uncle of the bride and the ushers were George Vargo and Herbert Vargo, all of Fayette City.

The mother of the bride selected a dress of blue lace over satin with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

Hold Reception

The wedding party was served breakfast at Peasant Village immediately following the ceremony, and in the afternoon there was a reception at the Fairhope Rod and Gun Club for about 200 relatives and friends. A wedding cake centered the bridal table and the hall was decorated with flowers, white bells and streamers.

Later Mr. and Mrs. Fitzwater left for a trip to the Pocono mountains. For traveling the bride wore a blue gray suit with brown accessories and an orchid corsage. They will live in their own apartment in Philadelphia.

Mrs. Fitzwater was graduated in June of 1956 from Bellmar High School and is employed in the Bell Telephone offices in Philadelphia. Her husband was also graduated from Bellmar High School and is employed at a Philadelphia super market.

The evening preceding the ceremony there was a rehearsal and the wedding party was later entertained at the home of the bride's parents.

'Career Night' Program Is Presented at Beta Sigma Phi Chapter Meeting

"Career Night" was observed by the members of the Eta Zeta chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority at a meeting held on Wednesday evening in the Civic Center.

At a previous session the married members of the chapter entertained the career girls at a fashion show in which they modeled their wedding gowns and this program was arranged in reciprocation as an activity in the cultural department.

Give Talks

Mary Louise Dominico told some of her activities as an elementary school teacher in the Washington building. Janet Sickles gave an account of some of her activities as a student at California State Teachers College, where she also serves as editor of the school publication. Sally Kachmarik chose as her talk, "A Day in the Life of a Secretary at Westinghouse". Shirley Tressler described her work as an operating room technician.

One of the married members, Jean Major, was asked to take part in the program due to the interesting nature of her previous career. She was on the nursing staff at West Penn Hospital, Pittsburgh, in a supervisory capacity and described some of the daily situations she was called upon to face.

Charlotte Sonafelt, president of the chapter, was in charge of the meeting and a complete report was given on the tag day conducted last Saturday for the March of Dimes. The workers collected a total of $135, all of which will be turned over to the local drive being conducted in conjunction with the Westmoreland County collection.

Invited to Party

Members of the chapter received an invitation from Delta Nu Chapter of Washington, Pa. to attend a Sweetheart Dance on Feb. 8.

Ways and means projects were discussed and the women voted to continue with the sale of purses when the spring samples are available. Mrs. Paul Kissell, ways and means chairman, is in charge.

Plans were made for the annual Valentine dinner party to be held on Saturday, Feb. 9, at the Park Casino. The members will have their husbands and friends as guests and other guests will be invited.

The next regular chapter meeting will be on Feb. 6, at the Civic Center.

Betrothal of Speers Couple Is Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert C. Myers, of 730 Lewis avenue, Speers Hill, announced the engagement of their daughter, Judy, over the recent holiday season. She is the bride-elect of Eugene A. Kornosky, son of Michael A. Kornosky, Sr., of 504 Charles street, Speers.

The bride-elect was graduated from Charleroi High School with the class of 1956 and is now employed by Reicks Dairy Co. in Charleroi. Her fiance was graduated from Charleroi High School in the class of 1948 and is now employed in Uniontown by National Cash Register Co.

No definite wedding plans have been announced by the couple.

Monessen Girl John Manolakis Are Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Pete Papantonakis, of Monessen, announced the engagement of their daughter, Katherine, to John Manolakis, of New York City. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Manolakis, of Greece.

The announcement was made on Sunday night at a dinner party held at the Papantonakis home.

Miss Papantonakis was graduated from Monessen High School with the class of 1953 and is now employed at McKelvie Garage in Monessen. Her fiancee is presently working in New York.

No definite wedding plans have been revealed.

Spring Dance Planned by C-M Hospital Auxiliary

The ways and means committee of the Charleroi-Monessen Hospital Auxiliary met yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Walter Spragg, of Country Club road, to develop plans for various fund raising activities. Mrs. Alex Irvine and Mrs. Spragg, co-chairmen of the committee, presided.

Plans were discussed for the Spring Festival Charity Dance, an annual event to be held on Saturday, May 4, at the Charleroi Elks Club. Tommy Carlyn and his orchestra, known throughout the valley for his "take it easy" music will play and dancing will be from 10 p. m. to 2 a. m.

'Speaking of Beauty'
"Is Brushing Good For Your Hair?"
James V. Bonafed

REMEMBER WHEN you were a child, and Mother used to make you so unhappy with her hair brush? Not when she spanked you? I refer to the ordeal of brushing snarls from your curls. But when you were a little older you probably learned it was the old-fashioned hair brush that made tresses satin-smooth. You probably brushed diligently in your teens . . . but what about today?

-o-

The hair brush hasn't gone out of style! But it has a modern helper—a new kind of snarl-remover that rinses manageability right into your hair! That's the creme rinse we use after your shampoo. One famous beauty research laboratory proved it takes ten minutes more to comb out hair after a shampoo, if it hasn't been creme-rinsed. Every time you comb your hair at home between settings, watch the wave spring back easily, softly. That's because of the creme rinse we gave you!

-o-

THERE IS ANOTHER kind of creme rirse . . . that creme-type colour rinses with which we put temporary colour into your tresses. For instance, we have new creme rinses designed to put "silver" into your grey hair. There's a choice of tones: one for white hair, one for "regular" grey hair, and one for hair still "turning". Each leaves your tresses like satin.

-o-

Then there's the creme rinse in fashion colours. These rinses brighten your hair—and your whole personality! Why not try an auburn tone, next time you're here? Remember, we can rinse it away again with your next shampoo. Meantime, you feel so glamorous!

-o-

YOU can brush and brush, but we guarantee: You can't brush the curl out of our permanent waves! Use your hair brush daily thoroughly, methodically, just as we do after your hair-set is dry and ready for combing). Brushing benefits your hair—keeps it polished and dust-free.

School Board Meets; Members On Committees

The Perry Township School Board held its regular meeting at the school at which several reports were made.

Leonard Pirilla, president, was in charge with reports read by Sam Migrock, secretary and Joseph Torkish, treasurer.

Permission was given to the Civilian Defense Auxiliary Police group to hold a dance review in the school auditorium, Thursday, Jan. 31.

Committee appointments were made. Named to the building committee were Joseph Torkish, Simon Rider and Dr. Bruno Bonucci. Named to the budget committee were Leonard Pirilla and Sam Migrock. Other appointments will be made later.

Other members attending were Simon Rider, George Shoaf, Albert Stofan and G. E. Hibbs, supervising principal.

Lions Club in Recent Meeting

The Perryopolis Lions Club met recently at the Christian Church in Perryopolis.

Mrs. Ada Kuhns, social guidance counselor at Perry-Lower Tyrone schools, was guest speaker. She gave an interesting talk about her trip this past summer, when she and Martha Francis attended a meeting of the National Education Association at Portland, Oregon.

A board meeting was held after the regular meeting.

Auxiliary Police Hears CD Chief

The Perryopolis Borough Auxiliary Police held its regular meeting in the Perryopolis fire hall.

Blair Jones, of Uniontown, executive representative of the State Civil Defense, was guest speaker.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Wallner, of Perryopolis, are the parents of a baby son.

Mrs. Delva Trevisanutto, of Star Junction, is a patient in the Connellsville Hospital.

Altar Society Plans For Pilgrimage

The Altar Society of the St. John's Catholic Church is planning a pilgrimage to the shrine of St. Anne DuBeaupre, Quebec, Canada in July.

An invitation is extended to all members of the parish and their friends. Reservations must be made by March 1 in order to make hotel reservations.

Further information may be obtained by calling Mrs. J. A. Kalman.

Refugee Students Given Break In Pennsylvania

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Public Instruction Department said today refugee students may be allowed to enter Pennsylvania colleges without the usual educational credentials if they meet the "general requirements" of the institution.

Dr. Carl Seifert, deputy superintendent for higher education, said the department will submit the students to a comprehensive examination entitling them to a "high school equivalent" certificate. The students will be permitted to prepare for this examination while enrolled in college, but may not be graduated without having passed it.

Refugee students seeking admission to professional schools in medicine, dentistry, public accounting, and similar technical fields must obtain a certificate of preliminary education from the department. The basic requirements for these certificates are 16 course credits—three in English, one in American history, one in social science, and 11 electives. Additional requirements are determined by the professional studies to be pursued.

Non-farm Homes Drop During 1956

WASHINGTON (UP)—The number of non-farm homes on which construction was begun last year dropped 16 per cent below 1955 to the lowest rate since early postwar years, the government reported today.

Tht Labor Department said construction was started on 1,120,000 houses and apartments during 1956. It attributed the drop mainly to a decrease in the number of new units started under FHA and VA programs in the metropolitan centers.

Joy Company Double Shares In Expansion

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Stockholders of Joy Manufacturing Co. voted today to double the number of authorized common shares to help the company expand.

Joy presently has under consideration the acquisition of a small company and also is investigating the possibility of acquiring still another firm.

Joy officers did not reveal the names of the companies involved.

The stockholders okayed a proposal to increase common shares to 6 million with a $1 par value from the present 3 million $1 par shares.

President John Lawrence, in his annual report said, the company's order backlog stood at a record high as of Dec. 31 and Joy's market looks "quite good."

Church School Holds Meeting

The Church School Association of Christ Evangelical Lutheran Church met in the Parish House Tuesday evening for the January meeting. The topic was, "Sunday Morning Is What You Make It," with Philip Weise as leader.

Gustave Ulander conducted the business meeting, opening with a prayer. Various reports were presented by the different committees and representatives of each department. Plans for the nursery are well under way with several donations of furniture having already been made.

Pastor Schneidmiller concluded the meeting with a special prayer. There were 22 present at the meeting.

Bowling League Action Resumed

The regular Wednesday evening bowling schedule has been resumed with play scheduled to begin at 6:30 for the Woman's Bowling League.

The season will conclude with games on Feb. 27. Plans are now being made for the banquet which will be held sometime in the early part of May. Committees will be appointed within the next week.

Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Samios, Robert and Nicky Samios, Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Samios and Janine Samios were visitors on Sunday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Rieser, of North Fourth street. They are all McKeesport residents.

County Residents Urged to Acquire Polio Vaccine

Dr. Louis A. Naples, Westmoreland County medical director, today urged all children and adults in the county to be inoculated with Salk vaccine.

The procedure of Salk vaccine is three injections — the first two a month apart and the third seven months after the second.

He urges parents of children who have received the vaccine in their first and second grades to have their third injection to complete this immunity.

The vaccine, he said, is available to all persons of all ages through their family physician.

The State Department of Health has available free vaccine to all 20 years of age and expectant mothers who are unable to pay for it. Arrangements should be made with the family physician to secure this free vaccine.

Czech Custody Battle

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — A counterpart of the Tanya Chwastov cold-war custody battle was studied today in the case of two Czeckoslovakian children who are wards of the city of Philadelphia.

U. S. Attorney W. Wilson White said Thursday he understood a member of the Czech embassy in Washington is showing an "active interest" in support of an order for return of Pauline Semansky, 14, and her sister, Angelica, 9, to Czechoslovakia along with their parents. Their father, Rudolph, is a patient at a state mental hospital here.

Judge Hazel Brown of the Municipal Court had written White for an opinion after application had been made for return of the family to their native country where they became displaced persons under the German occupation during World War II.

White advised Judge Brown that she is not required to give the "slightest heed" to any representations from the diplomatic staff of Czechoslovakia and that she should consider only the "welfare of the children, both for the immediate present and for the future."

"I am authorized to inform you that the U. S. Department of Justice stands ready to give direct support to the maintenance of your court in this ase on its sole criterion in all custody cases, the well being of the children," White said.

The federal attorney added that the United States never will interfere with the "free, voluntary decisions of any nationals to return to their country of origin" provided they are not induced by "coercion, duress or intimidation."

"In the cases of children of tender age, this is not present and the decision must be made on an objective determination of the facts bearing on the children's welfare," he added.

Father Sanesi Returns Paul Hornung

Obviously Father Leonard Sanesi, assistant pastor at St. Cajetan Church, doesn't believe in half-way measures. It was Father Sanesi who motored on icy highways to the Greater Pittsburgh Airport last Sunday to pick up Notre Dame's brilliant Paul Hornung for the Holy Name banquet at Twin Coaches. The Monessen priest also chauffered Hornung back to the airport after the affair, but somehow they missed plane connections. So the undisturbed Father Sanesi readjusted his plans (with the help of his pastor) and merely drove all night directly to South Bend, Ind., to return Hornung in time for Monday classes. The appreciative Hornung toured Father Sanesi around the Irish campus the next day and saw to it that he got an autographed football before the return trip to Monessen.

There's nothing to the report that St. Vincent football coach Al DeLuca has designs on the Boston University vacancy. So says DeLuca, himself . . . Incidentally Al has confided to friends that he plans to coach football at St. Vincent as long as they want him. When that job runs out, he'll call it a coaching career . . . According to reports, USW Local 1229 plans a big formal opening for the swank new bowling alleys in the CIO Building. Efforts are being made to lure international president David J. McDonald to the affair . . . By the way, the CIO lanes have been in operation for more than a month now.

Rumor Cage Coaching Change in Sec. 5

There's serious agitation for a basketball coaching change at a Section 5 school. Nothing definite yet, but it's in the wind, we are told . . . Absolutely no youngsters will be allowed on the reserved section side of the Monessen High gym without a reserved seat ticket next Tuesday for the big game with Charleroi. Ordinarily MHS officials permit the youngsters to sit with their parents if they so desire. However all seats have been sold out on the reserved side for this game and there simply won't be any room available . . . By the way, MHS athletic director Everett Pancook is seeing to it that proper space is reserved for Monessen students for the game, which will certainly attract a sell-out crowd.

* * *

When the Harlem Globetrotters appear at the Monessen High gym on February 6, they'll bring along a complete cast, including the opposition, extra acts, officials, and an announcer. According to their advance publicity, the announcer will be none other than Charles (Brute) Kramer. He is the former Monessen man who has held a variety of sports jobs. Kramer started as sports editor of the Daily Independent. He moved on to the sports publicity office at St. Vincent. Then followed a tenure as manager of the Cambria County War Memorial. Kramer also promoted boxing shows and served as general-manager of the Johnstown Jets hockey team. Apparently he's now latched on with the Globetrotters.

To Crack Down on Booing at MHS Gym

Peeved at booing during recent games in the Monessen High gym, Principal Henry Furio has promised to crack down on violators. "We have achieved a fine reputation for sportsmanship in Monessen and we're not going to let a handful of students destroy it," reports Furio . . . Incidentally we were amazed to see Washington High coach Bill Laughlin get so excited about the officiating in this week's game with Monessen even though his club was safely in front most of the time. Admittedly the whistle-tooting was not extra-ordinarily good but it was hardly one-sided. At one stage, Laughlin took off his coat, dashed two strides onto the floor and offered it to an official. His action was overlooked, which was probably the wisest course since there was no question about the winning team.

Basketball Crowds Dwindle at Garden

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UP) —Big time basketball in such off-campus sites as Madison Square Garden still is reeling today under the effects of the 1951 scandals but Ned Irish, the father of the commercial double-headers, isn't planning to surrender.

In the days before the "fixes," twin-bills at the Garden usually were sellouts which attracted 18,000 fans each and every time. This year the "crowds" have been averaging a mere 4,000.

Irish contends that the crowds "aren't particularly down." This is either a tribute to his gameness or a knock against his eyesight. But he does admit that "over the country the crowds are on the upswing."

"Ten years ago, there were many colleges which didn't have the large field houses they have today," Irish contends. "Now they don't go on the road as much as they used to, which may be a partial answer."

Hit The Road

In other words, back in the prefix days, the colleges with a building program hit the road and made themselves a big reputation as well as a lot of money. This helped build—and fill—those field houses in which they sell out today.

Another influence is that after the scandals, there was a tremendous back-to-the - campus movement to remove the players from the reach of the big city gamblers. But now only the Big Seven has a ban against off-campus play and that is highly elastic in view of the fact that Iowa State uses the new Des Moines Stadium and the conference tournament is held in the Kansas City Municipal Stadium.

Irish sees the current stumbling block, at least as far as Madison Square Garden is concerned, is a lack of local talent.

Low Calibre Teams

"The calibre of such teams as New York University and St. John's lessened after that trouble with the boys," said Irish, who prefers not to mention the word "scandal."

"But if all those New York boys now playing for North Carolina, as example, were playing for NYU, we'd be drawing with such a team in the Garden," he added. "And if Kansas played here with Wilt Chamberlain, you'd see a capacity crowd on hand. We just don't have the teams right now."

So Irish, who started this double header business in 1934, is planning to carry on as usual in the future.

But there can be no doubt but what off - campus college play doesn't have the drawing power of pre-scandal days. And he's going to find it difficult to lure the big draws out of their own bulging field houses.

MHS Cagers Go to Donora Tonight

Cro-Ams Rap Viaduct Cagers

Stay Atop Standings With Win

It's beginning to ook now as though nobody is going to stop the Cro-Ams in the City Basketball League this season.

Coach Paul Kunsa's smooth-working cagers passed their biggest test with flying colors last night, spanking second place Viaduct, 52-44, at the Junior High gym.

That was the 13th win in a row for the unbeaten Cro-Ams, who now are seeking the first perfect record in City League history.

The poised Cr-Ams rallied in the second half to hurdle Viaduct At intermission, Kunsa's boys lagged. 24-20.

Stage Rally

In the second half, the Cro-Ams staged one of their patented rallies to pull the game out with something to spare. The winners drew even at 30-30 in the third period, then went ahead for good.

Sam Dominico paced the Cro-Ams ith 16 points. Bob Petty chipped in with 14.

For Viaduct, Mike Young had 19

In other games last night, Big Five topped the Yellow Jackets, 47-37, and S-L won over the Fuocos 46-39.

John Bronson led Big Five with a 14 point effort For the losers, Nick Rullo had 15

Take Third Place

The win moved Big Five into solid possession of third place in the City League standings.

Tom Kovach scored 16 points and Jack Sheplar added 11 as S-L staged a mild upset over the Fuocos. For the losers, Jerry Destefano had 23.

Maglie Signs for Estimated $30,000

By UDNITED PRESS

Sal Maglie, who won the "money" games for the Brooklyn Dodgers in 1956, signed an agreement today that figures to keep him rolling in the "green stuff" for the remainder of 1957.

The crafty right hander, who made an amazing comeback with the Dodgers after the Cleveland Indians let him go in a waiver deal last May, quickly reached agreement with Brooklyn Vice President Buzy Bavasi for a salary believed to be $30,000

While the figure is not too imposing, it still is regarded as quite high for a guy who will be 40 years old on April 26.

Few major league clubs have been known to give away their money, but in Maglie's case the Dodgers are only too happy.

After the Dodgers clinched the National League pennant last fall, the Brooklyn official family, including President Walter O'Malley, avasi and Manager Walter Alston, agreed it couldn't have been done without Sal.

Near Perfect

Down the stretch run Malgie was near perfect. He won eight of nine games, including a no - hit, no-run game against the Philadelphia Phillies. He won 13 games in all and lost five, posted an earned run average of 2.87, fourth best in the National League, and wound up as the club's "bread and butter" pitcher in the final hectic weeks of the close race with the Milwaukee Braves and Cincinnati Redlegs.

Just to prove he still had some rubber left in his aging right arm, Sal opened the World Series with the Yankees by beating Whitey Ford and lost the fifth game when he ran up against Don Larsen's perfect game.

23 Under Contract

His signing gave the Dodgers 23 players under contract, second only to the St. Louis Cardinals who have 30 players in the fold.

The New York Giants, Milwaukee Braves, and Chicago White Sox also announced some signings, but for the most part they involved lesser players.

Left handed pitcher Pete Burnside, rookie catcher Bob Schmidt and outfielder Bill Taylor signed with the Giants; the Braves lined up second baseman Ed Charles; the Orioles signed first baseman Bob Hale, and the White Sox corralled a pair of youngsters for their farm clubs.

Supreme Court Listens to Pro Football Suit

WASHINGTON (UP)— The Supreme Court has taken under advisement a case in which the National Football League has asked for professional football the same anti-trust immunity now enjoyed by professional baseball.

Decision on the case, stemming from a suit by former Detroit Lions tackle Mike Radovich, is expected some time before the end of the court term in June.

The court heard two hours of spirited argument on the case Thursday, much of it provoked by questions from several of the justices. Much of the argument centered on whether decisions handed down in 1922 and in 1953 regarding baseball should also apply to the pro gridiron sport.

Two lower courts already have returned a finding that pro football should have the same immunity from anti-trust action that baseball has, but counsel for Radovich has charged the NFL with monopolistic tactics in violation of the federal anti-trust laws.

Radovich, of Los Angeles, sued the NFL and its member teams in 1949 under the anti-trust laws, charging they had blacklisted him for leaving the Detroit Lions in 1946 to play with the Los Angeles Dons of the now defunct All-America Conference.

March of Dimes Bowling Will Start Tonight

The fifth annual March of Dimes Bowling Tournament will begin tonight at the new USW Local 1229 alleys at 6:30 p. m.

Just one match is scheduled this evening. Fabric will meet the Open Hearth Riggers in an opening round affair.

Jack Ellenberger, commissioner of the event, announced that 12 leagues will be represented in the event.

On hand to present awards will be USW District Director Eugene Maurice and staff representative George Kutska.

All proceeds from the tournament will go to Monessen's March of Dimes drive.

The fee for each competing team this year will be $20. In addition, a novel foul bucket has been established.

Missed spares and fouls will cost a penny; gutter balls and doubles five cents; and turkeys a dime

All strikes after each turkey will be five cents

Tony Ortolona, president of Local 1229, said that the union is happy to offer the alleys without charge for the special event.

Ortolona will toss out the first bowling ball tonight to officially open the tournament

Tomorrow at 6 p. m. the tourney will move into high gear with Bundling going against Rod Mill; Office against Open Hearth Floor, No. 3 Maintenance against Field Fence. Welding Shop against B. M. Millwrights; and Blast Furnace against B.M. Eelctrical

Quarter-finals will also be staged tomorrow at 9 p m while the semi-finals and finals will be held Sunday.

Martin Making Good as Coach

By UNITED PRESS

Slater Martin, a little fellow as far as professional basketball is concerned, is determined to prove that a man can still play the game and serve as coach too.

Martin, named coach of the floundering St. Louis Hawks recently, put on one of his best performances of the season in the National Basketball Association Thursday night to lead the Hawks to a 106-82 victory over the Fort Wayne Pistons.

Sparkling play by Ed MacAuley and Bob Pettit, plus the all-around hustle of little Martin enabled the Hawks to build up a commanding lead in the first half St. Louis easily held on to gain the win which moved it to within three percentage points of third-place Minneapolis in the Western Division.

The Lakers lost ground when Sweetwater Clifton's two free throws in the final minute of play gave the New York Knickerbockers a 94-93 victory and a percentage point lead over Philadelphia for second place in the Eastern Division. The Warriors dropped a 108-103 decision to the Syracuse Nationals.

Rostraver Juniors Beat Charleroi By 36 to 31 Score

Rostraver Junior High turned back touted Charleroi, 36-31, in an exhibition game yesterday at the Little Lep floor.

Willie Ross tossed in 17 points to pace the winners.

The Leps lagged throughout the first half, but they took control in the third period.

Lineups follow:

Rostraver Jrs. 36

Two Junior High Games Slated

Two Junior High basketball exhibitions are scheduled this afternoon.

Monessen's up-and-down Juniors will invade Bentleyville while once-beaten Vernon will travel to Monongahela.

Signs with Packers

MERCED, Calif. (UP)—Bobby Garrett, a former passing ace at Stanford University and currently serving as special services officer at Castle Air Force Base, has signed a 1957 contract with the Green Bay Packers of the National Football League. Garrett is scheduled for discharge from the Air Force on Jan. 29

Seek 38th Straight Win in Section 5 Floor Competition

It will be Donora's chance tonight to end the longest winning streak in Section 5 basketball history.

The hot-and-cold Dragons will play host to Monessen High's proud dribblers, who own a 37 game victory string which dates back four seasons.

And if ever the stage were set for an upset, this is it.

In three league tests this season, the Hounds have won by sizeable margins. They had to stage last-quarter spurts to insure two of the games, though.

On the other hand, Donora has divided four games. None of the decisions was decisive in either direction.

Tough at Times

However the Dragons indicated during exhibition play that they can be tough at times. If they are "hot" tonight, it could spell the end of the Greyhound winning streak.

Another — and perhaps more important — factor in the Dragons favor is the schedule which will match Monessen against arch rival Charleroi on Tuesday. The Greyhounds made it clear earlier in the week during a so-so performance against invading Washington that they are looking ahead to Charleroi.

That attitude could be disastrous this evening. The Dragons have more size than the Hounds and they can just about match them in speed, too

Coach Jerry Wunderlich has molded a Dragon five which includes just one senior. He is Don Sento, a big 6-3 center who has been bothered all through his schoolboy career with a knee injury.

Russell Big Scorer

Big scorer for the Donorans has been Dave Russell, a 6-0 junior forward with lots of speed.

Other Dragon starters will be Hal Rice, 6-1 junior; Angelo Dabiero, 5-10 junior; and Jim Crawford, 5-8 sophomore.

Top reserves are Dick Mongelluzzo, 6-1; Ted Parquette, 6-4; and Bill Sento, 5-11.

Monessen will open with its usual lineups: Frank Crisi, 6-0; Dick DiBiaso, 6-1; Carl Crawley, 6-0; Maurice Mathieu, 5-9; and John Bogovich, 5-10. The sixth man is Joe Kurey, 6-0

In the past Monessen and Donora have met 76 times in basketball with the Greyhounds winning 61 of those games.

If they win tonight, the Greyhounds will next expose their brilliant record against arch-rival Charleroi on Tuesday at the MHS gym.

BOWLING

By JOE JANNOTTA

With today's column, we complete our glossary of duckpin bowling terms.

Our final list follows:

Scratch — Using actual scores without handicaps.

Pivot man — Third person in the lineup.

Steal — Getting more pins than deserved on the hit.

Double — Two strikes in succession.

Four Bagger — Four strikes in succession.

Grave Yards — Hardest alleys to score on in an establishment.

Foul — To touch or go beyond the foul line when delivering a ball.

Gutter Ball — A ball which is thrown in either gutter of the alley.

King Pin — Number 5 pin.

Maples — The duckpins.

Double Wins in New Bowling Loop

Bergstedts and Zdillas got off to double wins in Open Hearth Pit Bowling League action last night. On the losing end were Baker and Cutters, respectively.

Leading scorers were Ed Anderson, 190-489; John Flax, 191-502; Andy Lazor, 185-472; John Hasch, 180-450; Cliff Shrader, 200-500; and John Ross, 210-540.

Cats, Flyers in Clean Sweeps

Hell Cats blanked the Blue Devils and Flyers swept over the Bombers in DIC bowling last night.

Leading scorers were William Standard, 146-371; Donald Macer, 144-357; Arthur McGraw, 145-387; Otto Payne, 120-328.

Standings show Hellcats, 5-1; Blue Devils, 3-3; Flyers, 3-3; and Bombers, 1-5.

Two Whitewashes In Furnace Loop

There were two sweeps in the Blast Furnace Bowling League last night. Electrical blanked Pig Machine and Cast House rolled over Mechanical.

In another match, Blow Room won a pair from Steam Plant.

Scoring leaders were Andy Baron, 205-469; Steve Szabo, 173-465; Bob Altamare, 182-471; Bill Valko, 200-473; Hank Mazur, 207-505; and Bill Artis, 15-456.

Bellmar Shows At Monongahela

Both Quints after First Win In Section 5 Basketball Play

The only two quints in Section 5 without a win — Bellmar and Monongahela — will clash at the Wildcat gym tonight.

The Cares have failed in four league starts this season while the Monongahelans have muffed three league chances.

Obviously neither team is going anywhere in the current race. However they appear evenly matched and tonight's struggle should be closely contested.

Most observers rate Monongahela the nod because of the home floor advantage.

In other Section 5 encounters this evening, Monessen will go to Donora and California will visit Charleroi.

Cougars Favored

The towering Cougars, heavy favorites to win league laurels this season, should have no trouble handling the Trojans, despite the visitors surprising 2-1 loop record.

In their last outing the Charleroians displayed fine form in overpowering Bellmar with unexpected ease.

Section 10 will be busy but ambitious Rostraver will sit out the night. The Leps are currently tied for first place in the standings with a 3-1 record. They will return to action next Tuesday, playing host to a good Scottdale team.

The Section 10 card will show Ramsay at Scottdale, Ligonier at Derry Twp. and Hurst at Dunbar.

Perryopolis, unbeaten in two Section 17 games, will play host to Sewickley. The Commodores are favored to get by that test and thereby stay atop the heap.

Section 17 Games

Other Section 17 frays will have West Newton at East Huntingdon and South Huntingdon at Irwin.

West Newton is a slim choice at East, while Irwin figures to handle South without too much trouble.

Here's the way the Daily Inedpendent sports department picks tonight's games:

MONESSEN at Donora (3)
Bellmar at MONONGAHELA (4)
California at CHARLEROI (16)
Ramsay at SCOTTDALE (6)
Ligonier at DERRY TWP. (9)
HURST at Dunbar (10)
W. NEWTON at E. Huntingdon (5)
S. Huntingdon at IRWIN (12)
Sewickley at PERRYOPOLIS (8)

Souchak Favored In Golf Tourney South of Border

AGUA CALIENTE, Mex. (UP)—Everything is in black and white on the odds board in the $15,000 Caliente Open Golf Tournament and the bookmakers today listed these prices on the four men tied for the leadership at the start of the second round.

Defending champion Mike Souchak, 6-1; Julius Broos, Midpines, N. C., 12-1; Harry Weetman, Croydon, England, 15-1; and Len Kennett, Camp Pendleton, Calif., 30-1. The four shotmakers each had 68, four strokes under par on the Tijuana Country Club course, but were only one stroke ahead of four others.

With gambling sharing interest with the golfing results, the bookmakers cut Souchak from 8-1, Weetman from 25-1, Boros from 15-1, and Kennett from 70-1.

Thursday, they paid their backers not too well. Because of the four-way tie, the odds were cut in four on each man. In other words, Weetman, at 25-1 should have paid $52 for a $2 bet. Instead he paid only $13.

Regardless of the pay-off, there was some brilliant golf—especially by Weetman. He had toured the first nine in a disappointing 39 when he suddenly caught fire and birdied the next six holes for a 29 on the back nine and a new course record.

Tied at 69 were former PGA champion Doug Ford, Al Besselink, Grossinger's, N. Y., Bill Bisdorf, San Diego, Calif., and a newcomer to the professional ranks, Larry Mowry of Tijuana, Mex.

There were 12 men tied at 70, including Jay Hebert, winner of the Bing Crosby event last week.

Jets Romp in Bowling Action

Lincoln Jets blanked Walworth in No. 3 Maintenance League bowling last night.

In other matches, General Electric won a pair from Airco and Oxweld took two from McKay.

Scoring leaders were Jack Ralston, 189-451; Don Lehew, 188-495; Bob Bernardo, 183-429; Al Spadafore, 173-470; Joe Righetti, 222-479; and Mike Jannotta, 176-461.

Standings show McKay, 38-16; General Electric, 31-23; Lincoln Jets, 28-26; Oxweld, 27-27; Airco, 22-32; and Walworth, 16-38.

Two Sweeps in Riggers League

McVickers blanked Van Shuras and Vandermers swept over the Frables in Open Hearth Riggers League Bowling last night.

Top scorers were Joe Koget, 195-484; Steve Salay, 215-487; Guppo Galvan, 157-467; and Chuck Simon, 182-455.

Standings show McVickers, 9-0; Van Shuras, 5-4; Vandermers, 3-6; and Frables, 1-8.

SMU Seeks 9th Straight Win In Game Tonight

By UNITED PRESS

Southern Methodist, once again the Southwest's top candidate for the national basketball championship, shoots for its ninth straight victory tonight in one of four games involving conference leaders.

The Mustangs, currently ranked as the nation's No. 4 team and anxious to move up at the expense of third-ranked Kentucky, can push their season record to 15-1 with a triumph over Texas tonight — the lone defeat coming against Kentucky on the winners' court.

Kentucky, with an 11-3 record, opened the door for a possible SMU advance when it was upset Monday by Tulane.

SMU will be risking a perfect 4-0 Southwest Conference record in this home game in its drive for a third straight league title. A loss would give Baylor (3-1) the chance to tie for the lead by beating Rice Saturday night.

First place also will be at stake tonight in the Pacific Coast Conference, Ivy League, and Skyline Conference.

Eye Lead

Washington, tied for second in the PCC with a 4-0 mark, can tie pace-making California (5-0) by beating Stanford.

Princeton risks its 3-0 Ivy League mark against defending league champion Dartmouth (2-1). A Dartmouth triumph would leave both teams tied with Yale for first place at 3-1, and Columbia could then make it a four-way deadlock by beating Cornell.

Brigham Young, ranked 16th nationally, risks its 3-0 Skyline mark against Utah State. If the Cougars lose, Utah (2-1) can tie for first by beating Montana Saturday night.

Bradley, the nation's 14th ranked team, spurted to its fifth straight Missouri Valley triumph, 81-64, over Houston, and Creighton extended its winning streak to four straight by beating Drake, 74-60, in the leading games of a sparse Thursday schedule.

Bragan Feels Pittsburgh Can Finish Fourth in Standings

By RUDY CERNKOVIC

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Manager Bobby Bragan rates his Pittsburgh Pirates as a "second echelon" team of the National League.

But don't let that terminology fool you—the sophomore pilot still thinks his team can finish fourth this year in a hot scramble for the spot with four other secondary clubs in the circuit.

"The way I see it," Bobby said, "the National League is divided into two divisions. The upper echelon includes Brooklyn, Milwaukee and Cincinnati. The lower segment is made up of the other five teams."

Bragan said there was little difference among the lower five club and that the same situation existed in the top group.

"Of course, if the Pirates can get off to as good a start this year as we did in 1956, there's no telling what can happen.

Why Prospects Are Better

"Our team will be better this season because we are a year older. The players are still in the formative stage. And that includes Bob Friend—even if he was rated by the Brooklyn Dodgers as the toughest-to-hit pitcher they faced last year. The fact remains he is young and still improving."

The Pirate outfield of Bob Clemente, Lee Walls and Bill Virdon was considered one of the finest defensive units in the league last season, but Bragan thinks there is room for improvement.

"Last season was the first year as major league regulars for Walls and Clemente and the second for Virdon," he pointed out.

Virdon and Clemente finished second and third respectively among the league's leading hitters last season.

General Manager Joe L. Brown returned this week from a tour of the Caribbean with glowing reports of Clemente's play with Puerto Rico.

"He's the toast of the island," Brown said Thursday. "He was hitting .433 when I left and set a new winter league record for consecutive hitting with 23 games.

"But you know who stopped his streak? It was his own Pirate teammate, Luis Arroyo."

Infield "Still Improving"

Bragan sized up his infield as "still improving" with Dick Groat and Bill Mazeroski key figures.

"At first base, Dale Long is an exception as to age and experience, but the streak of greatness he enjoyed last season may be what he needed to become consistently good.

"Frank Thomas, in taking over third base last season, could be our best ball player. He should be better with a year behind him."

Bragan has assigned hall of famer Pie Traynor to work out with Thomas when the Pirates open spring training at Ft. Myers, Fla., next month.

Brown reported that Danny Kravitz has been hitting well in the Dominican Republic winter league and has gained experience as a catcher.

The Pirates will have the one-two batting punch of the New Orleans Pelicans in their training camp. John Powers paced the Southern League with 39 homers last season and Emil Panko had 36.

Tiger Jones in TV Bout with Hardy Smallwood

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UP) — Ralph (Tiger) Jones, his signts set on a 1957 middleweight championship battle with Gene Fullmer, rated as the favorite tonight in a 10-round nationally televised battle against Hardy (Bazooka) Smallwood of Brooklyn.

The oddsmakers gave Jones of Yonkers, N. Y., a 3 to 1 edge over Smallwood, who has been on the short end of more split decisions than he has won.

Both fighters orginally planned to be home in front of their televisons sets tonight, watching the Carmen Basilio—Johnny Saxton welterweight championship fight instead of trading punches in front of the cameras.

Basilio won a five-week delay when he revealed he had an injured right hand, and Matchmaker Larry Atkins signed Jones and Smallwood as the replacement headliner.

Jones' last appearance in Cleveland was an April meetng last year with Gene Fullmer. He closed fast against the Utah slugger, who was to become middleweight champion, and had no qualms about protesting the unanimous verdict awarded Fullmer.

A loss tonight to the lower-ranked Smallwood would undoubtedly stymie Jones' championship hopes.

Sime to Compete In Garden Race

NEW YORK (UP) — Dave Sime the 20 year old Duke University track star and one of the sensations of the 1956 track season until he suffered a groin injury, will compete in the 60-yard dash event in the Millrose Games at Madison Square Garden, Feb. 9. Laszlo Tabori, the Hungarian four-minute miler, is scheduled to make his first New York start in the meet's Wanamaker mile.

Ewbank Given Confidence Vote

BALTIMORE (UP) — Web Ewbank, rumored on his way out as coach of the Baltimore Colts, was given a rousing vote of confidence by club owner Carroll Rosenbloom today.

Rosenbloom, who met with Ewbank and club President Don Kellett at his summer home in Palm Beach, Fla., Thursday, said he hoped "this clears up any and all speculation regarding his status with the Baltimore club." Ewbank has one more year to go on a two-year pact.

Here Are Some Hints for Viewer Of Hockey Matches on Television

EDITORS NOTE: This year, for the first time, hockey is being televised nationally throughout the United States. Many are seeking the game for the first time. The following was prepared by Clarence S. Campbell, president of the National Hockey League, to help new viewers enjoy the game.

By CLARENCE S. CAMPBELL
President
National Hockey League
As Told To United Press

MONTREAL (UP)— Hockey is one of the easiest of all games to watch and understand and the finest of all spectator sports.

Its object is to produce 60 minutes of sustained speed and action and the unlimited substitution "on the fly" is one of its most outstanding features.

Essentially it is a simple game. Those watching it for the first few times should not be too much concerned with the colored and dotted lines and circles on the ice. They all have their special function which the spectator will absorb quickly.

Basically it is a contest between two teams, using six players each at any one time — each trying to put the "puck" into the opponents' "goal" by means of their sticks which they employ with wizardly skill.

Awesome To Witness

The first impression the new fan will get in his closeness to the action will be his personal identification with the actions of the players. At first he will be struck by the constant surging of play from one end to the other, the crashing of bodies and the heavy thud of the puck off the boards and the goaltender.

Gradually he will recognize the sheer artistry of the goalkeeper as he uses different tactics and maneuvers to keep the puck out of his net and "clear" it for one of his own players in an effort to launch a counter attack.

The goalie has two defensemen to protect him. Their chief job is to prevent the opponents from maneuvering into a scoring position by riding off or steering them into the corners and intercepting the puck by anticipation, "poke" checking the puck off his opponent's stick.

The arts of the three forwards are directed primarily to scoring goals and to do this they must have speed, deception of movement, stick-handling ability and a hard accurate shot. Most of all they must be able to work as a unit. To get maximum results a forward must be able to make them from an angle while travelling at top speed. Watch how he will pick up a pass with his skates when he is unable to reach it with his stick.

Note Faking Movements

Watch also how the puck carrier will use his body or the puck to deke (decoy) an opponent into the first move in an effort to pass him.

The forward must also be a good checker, adept in taking the puck away from the other team, either with his stick or by body-checking him.

Throughout the constant attack and counter-attack will also appear the strategy of the coach. His ingenuity in substituting his players to get his strongest line against the other team's weakest checkers, or juggling his best checkers against the opponent's strong line when he is ahead and trying to protect the lead, is all part of the battle of wits between the coaches.

But above all to get the maximum enjoyment from hockey, you should be partisan. The only nonpartisan fellows are the three men in the striped shirts — the referee and the two linesmen.

Bachelor Governor Meyner Of New Jersey Weds Tomorrow

By NORMAN G. CORNISH

OBERLIN, Ohio (UP) — The bachelor governor was due here today to claim his bride, the college president's daughter.

Gov. Robert Baumle Meyner of New Jersey will marry Miss Helen Day Stevenson Saturday afternoon in Oberlin's First Congregational Church, the oldest building in this college community.

Miss Stevenson, 28, will become the first lady of New Jersey when she becomes the wife of the 48-year old Democratic governor.

The wedding ceremony had been planned as a quiet one for only families and close friends. These were invited. No local invitations were sent, but residents of Oberlin will be welcome to the ceremony, performed by the Rev. Joseph F. King.

The Oberlin College choir will sing at the ceremony and retired professor of music James Hall will be at the organ.

As might be expected, politics had a hand in their meeting. The governor was the stellar attraction at the Oberlin College mock Democratic convention last year. As such, he was a guest in the home of College President William Edwards Stevenson. There he met "Danie" Stevenson, the president's daughter.

After the actual Democratic convention, Miss Stevenson worked in the Adlai Stevenson political headquarters in New York City. She and the governor enjoyed a social life together, and soon a romance was rumored.

The circulating reports reached a climax when Miss Stevenson's family and the governor's office were forced to announce that they were engaged.

Miss Stevenson, bowing to demands of a curious public, announced that she will wear the formal wedding gown her sister Priscilla, now Mrs. Richard M. Hunt, of Cambridge, Mass., wore at her wedding about 18 months ago. Her costume includes her mother's rosepoint veil with a cathedral train.

Wedding gifts shown include a pearl-studded lorgnette chain, gift of Adlai E. Stevenson and once the property of his mother.

The former Illinois governor, twice Democratic presidential standard-bearer, will be a guest at the ceremony.

Becomes Big Chore

Earlier this week, President Stevenson saw his daughter's quiet wedding grow into a matter of national interest. He handed to the Oberlin College public relations director the chore of laying out "ground rules" for press, radio, and picture and television coverage of the wedding and the social events preceding and following it.

Miss Stevenson's attendants include Mrs. Hunt as matron of honor; Mrs. Gregory Nowakoski of Teheran, Iran, and Mrs. Imre Cholnoky of Greenwich, Conn., as bridesmaids.

Gov. Meyner's attendants include his brother, Gustave of Pittsburgh, as best man; and Thomas Swick of Philipsburg, N.J., and Roger Sciorsci of Hoboken, N.J., as ushers.

A reception at the Stevenson home on the campus will follow the ceremony. After a wedding trip to Barbados Island, British West Indies, the governor and first lady will be at home at Morven, the governor's mansion, at Princeton, N.J.

WEDDING GIFTS —. Helen Stevenson, 28-year-old daughter of the president of Oberlin college, looks over some of her wedding presents in the Stevenson home in Oberlin, O. Tomorrow is date of her marriage to New Jersey's Gov. Robert Meyner. Miss Stevenson is a distant cousin of Adlai Stevenson.

Named to State Education Job

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Public Instruction Department today announced the appointment of Kenneth Simon, of Kane, as statistician with the department's executive bureau at a salary of $6,090 annually.

Simon, a former teacher and principal at Lafayette Twp. School in McKean County, will take over the post Jan. 31.

30,000 Needy Persons Get Free Legal Aid

HARRISBURG (UP)—The Pennsylvania Bar Association said today that an estimated 30,000 needy persons had received free legal aid in the state during the past year.

Wayne Theophilus, Pittsburgh, chairman of the association's Legal Aid Committee, said the number of persons given free assistance ranged from one to two in some rural counties to "many thousands" in the Philadelphia and Pittsburgh areas. He said in many metropolitan areas the legal aid required United Fund assistance and voluntary help from private attorneys and law students to keep up with their work load.

Theophilus said a full report of legal aid activities by the bar association will be made Jan. 29-Feb. 1 at its annual meeting in Pittsburgh.

Shareholders in 1956 Record Year

WASHINGTON (UP)—Shareholders of American corporations had another record year in 1956.

The Commerce Department reports that corporations issuing public reports paid out a record $11.3 billion in dividends last year. This was a gain of $900 million over the previous record of $10.4 billion in 1955.

Khrushchev Praises Stalin Before Chou

MOSCOW (UP) — Communist Party leader Nikita S. Khrushchev called on Communists throughout the world Thursday night to follow the example of Josef Stalin in the party's "essential" matters.

"God grant that every Communist be able to fight like Stalin," Khrushchev said, touching off a wave of cheers and applause among more than 1,200 guests and Communist elite at a gala reception for visiting Red China Premier Chou En-lai.

Khrushchev's inspired speech followed numerous exchanges of toasts between the Chinese delegation and the Russians. They drank glass after glass of a powerful Chinese drink called mouhai, described as "140-proof." The drink closely resembles Kentucky moonshine—in taste and effect.

At one point, Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin, standing at Khrushchev's side, whispered, "Enough, enough!" But Khrushchev shrugged him off with, "No, not enough yet!"

The Communist leader warned the Western world that capitalism is headed for extinction—a statement he also made last November at a Moscow reception for Polish Communist leader Wladyslaw Gomulka. Western diplomats walked out on Khrushchev that time.

Waving his fist in the air to emphasize his point, Khrushchev declared: "I do not separate Stalinism from Communism. But I consider that, as a Communist fighting for the working class, Stalin was a model Communist."

The audience burst into applause and Chou joined in as soon as the remarks were translated into Chinese.

"We have criticized Stalin. We criticize him now, and if necessary we will continue to do so, (but) not because we regard him as a bad Communist as far as the interests of the working class are concerned. We criticize him because he had defects which Lenin saw and pointed out before we noticed them and they came true."

WHICH WOMAN PASSED THE N. P.* TEST?
*NINETY PERCENT
The poised, smartly-dressed woman at the left of course. You can tell at a glance . . . and that's why the Ninety-Percent Test is so important. People judge you by what they see (sometimes that's all they have to go on) and ninety percent of what they see of you is what you wear. The fresh finish of drycleaned clothes is more than an extra touch . . . like a flower in the buttonhole. It's an integral part of good grooming. The state of your clothes tells volumes about the kind of person you are. In fact, your clothes never stop talking about you.
You buy your clothes to make a good impression. As you wear them, have them drycleaned often. A smart woman takes care to keep that impression fresh.
